YOUTH LOST IN FLOODED DEER CREEK

Postal Boss Renews Plea To Avoid Mail Service Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield has made a renewed plea for more funds to avoid a drastic cutback in mail services, starting Saturday.

There was no indication that Congress would heed him. In fact, the House continued on a firm path of budget-cutting.

Cutback Here Would Be Rough

Washington C. H. Office Sits Tight

Postal employees of the Washington C. H. office Monday morning were "just sitting tight" as they awaited word on Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's economy cutback proposal.

Just how the proposed curtailment of services would affect the post office here, and its patrons, remained conjectural.

Washington C. H. Postmaster Clark Wickensimer said that, so far as he could see now, only the six substitute employees here would feel the pinch. These, he pointed out, are the only ones on an hourly wage basis. The 25 regular employees, including the postmaster, are on an annual salary scale, which Wickensimer said he did not think could be trimmed without some special action by the Civil Service Commission.

The 31 employees of the post office here, the postmaster said, receive $5,544 every two weeks. Of this amount, $1,061 goes to the substitutes on the hourly wage. At the Washington C. H. office there are six regular carriers, 14 city carriers and 14 clerks and supervisors. They work a 40-hour week.

WICKENSIMER said that all he knows about the economy cutback proposal is what he reads in the newspaper. He added: "We've received no word from Washington yet...so, we're just sitting tight." Should the curtailment in service be ordered, Wickensimer said, "it would be pretty rough...it would definitely work a hardship and impair the mail service here."

He explained, for example, that if the mail is not sorted for delivery and dispatched from the office on Sunday, the weekend accumulation would be too big to handle for complete delivery Monday. This would mean, he continued, that delivery of some mail Monday undoubtedly would be delayed.

Wickensimer said he could not estimate the possible saving that would be effected here in case the cutback is ordered. However, he "guessed" the six substitutes might have their pay cut in half.

POSTMASTER General Summerfield served notice of the possible curtailment of services if Congress give the Post Office Department on $17 million of the $47 million he requested for operations for the next three months.

He had not said when the curtailment in service would be put into effect, but news from Washington, D. C., predicted it might come Saturday.

It is this lack of definite information—and the possibility that it may come with only a few hours to put the cutback into effect—that has given Wickensimer and the employees at the office here a case of jitters.

These are the possibilities outlined by Summerfield:

- (1) An embargo on acceptance and delivery of all third class mail except merchandise, at a saving of $30 million for the Postoffice Department's final quarter of the fiscal year. Third class mail includes advertising matter, samples and catalogues.
- (2) Wipe out city carrier delivery on all kinds of mail on Saturday at a saving of $10 million.
- (3) Close all postoffices on Saturdays and stop rural mail deliveries on that day at a savings of $4 million.
- (4) Halt money order sales at a saving of another $4 million.
- (5) Reduce mail deliveries in city business districts from two or three and sometimes more a day to one a day at $2 million saving.

Summerfield contends he needs $47 million to carry on postal operations at present levels during the remaining three months of this fiscal year. He has said unforeseen expenses stemmed from increased mail volume and the need to serve widening residential areas.

A House Appropriations subcommittee this week recommended only $17 million of that amount, despite word from Summerfield that he planned to curtail services unless he got the $47 million.

SUMMERFIELD has said that unless more money is assured, he plans to order, effective Saturday, a halt in Saturday mail deliveries in cities and rural areas, and a reduction in deliveries to city business districts, discontinuance of money order sales, and other service cutbacks.

House budget cutters were aiming at the $1 billion mark today as they received from the Appropriations Committee the sixth annual money bill of the session.

They passed the $800 million figure Thursday with a cut of $134,446,000 from the amount President Eisenhower had asked in new appropriations for the Labor and Welfare departments and several small agencies.

The Appropriations Committee today slashed 25 per cent from Eisenhower's requests for new Commerce Department funds. The committee recommended $653,685,000 in new appropriations for the department and related agencies for the fiscal year starting next July 1. This was $217,827,940 less than Eisenhower requested and $68,950,076 below appropriations for the current year.

In ordering one of its biggest cuts of the year, the committee apparently was mindful of what happened on its last bill, financing the Labor and Welfare departments. It cut $118 million from that measure only to have the House itself slash off an extra $15 million. Still another $53 million tentatively cut by the House was restored on rollcall votes Thursday.

The Commerce Department measure was the sixth annual money bill sent to the House this year by the committee.

Police Arrest 77 Boys as Battle Brews

FREMONT (AP)—Police in nearby Clyde prevented a teenage gang fight Thursday night by arresting 77 boys before the fists, clubs, knives and tire irons flew.

The projected battle was to have been between a gang from Fremont and a gang from Clyde, about eight miles east of Fremont. The trouble had been brewing since Wednesday night when two Fremont boys fought two Clyde boys over two girls.

Assisted by two deputy sheriffs and a state highway patrolman, two Clyde policemen met cars full of Fremont boys as they rolled into Clyde.

They arrested 57 Fremont boys, 19 from Bellevue, and rounded up one Clyde boy, who were hanging around a confectionary.

The boys, from 12 to 20 years of age, were relieved of an assortment of weapons, including wooden clubs, tire irons, soft metal strips for wrapping knuckles, a half dozen knives and one unloaded .22 caliber rifle.

Ohio Senate Puts OK On O'Neill's Pay Cuts

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Senate today, after a long and bitter three-hour wrangle in an unusual Friday session, finally passed a bill to cut the salaries of top state officials.

The final vote was 32-2 with two Cleveland Democrats, Sens. Frank Celebrezze and Andrew Putka, opposing both the emergency clause and the bill itself.

The payout bill requested by Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill wipes out almost all of the pay increases he requested the Legislature to adopt less than three months ago.

Before approving the bill the heavy Republican majority in the Senate defeated a series of amendments on strictly party lines. The major Democratic amendment, offered by Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown, would have placed the salaries of the cabinet level officials in a "middle ground" between the salaries approved last January and the levels to which the salaries of those same officials would fall if O'Neill's repealer passes the Legislature in its present form.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), has promised O'Neill the Senate would pass the repealer, introduced Tuesday this week.

The pay raises were approved Jan. 8, less than 24 hours after the Legislature started its session. Senate Democrats objected to similar speed in wiping out most of the raises.

A LEGISLATIVE speedup involves the suspension of many rules. Rule suspension requires three-fourths vote of the membership. Therein the Democrats saw their chance. They have slightly more than one-third of the Senate votes. They formed a solid front and threatened to block any proposed rule suspension.

Democrats said their aim in delaying the vote was to measure public opinion on O'Neill's repeal proposal. But Republicans said the Democratic aim was to keep the governor "over the barrel" as long as possible.

Gasoline Bomb Kills 6 in Bar

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A makeshift gasoline bomb turned a quiet neighborhood bar into a funeral pyre for at least six persons shortly before last midnight.

The coroner said six persons died at the scene on a quiet street in south central Los Angeles. At least five others were injured.

Police said the bomb apparently was thrown through the front door of the Club Mecca by three men who had been ejected earlier when they tried to dance with one of the cocktail bar's regular women customers.

Asst. Fire Chief R. A. Williams said the men sloshed a bucket of gasoline, or some other highly inflammable liquid, onto the floor and then threw in a match. "It went up like a blow torch," said the bartender, Larry Fenton, 24, who escaped uninjured.

OTHERS WEREN'T that lucky. One male customer was found on a nearly melted corner bar stool, leaning slightly backward against the shattered front wall. Two charred bodies were found in one of the cafe's four booths. Another was on the bar floor.

The only woman victim ran screaming into the street, clothes ablaze. She and another victim died soon after.

Two other customers escaped the flames by running into a restroom and were rescued by firemen.

Inside, the small cafe was a blackened ruin.

The three men who threw the bomb escaped in a car amidst a barrage of gunfire from a passerby. Vernon Waggy, 24, told police he was walking down the street when he saw the men running.

"I pulled out a .32 caliber automatic which I carry for protection and fired at them. I think I hit one," he said.

Miguel Martinez, 24, a student, said he was walking near the cafe when a car pulled up in front.

"Two men jumped out," he said. "One sloshed a big can of some sort of liquid into the bar."

Then, Martinez said, the second man swung his arm like a softball pitcher and the cafe erupted in flames. Police said the man apparently tossed in a match.

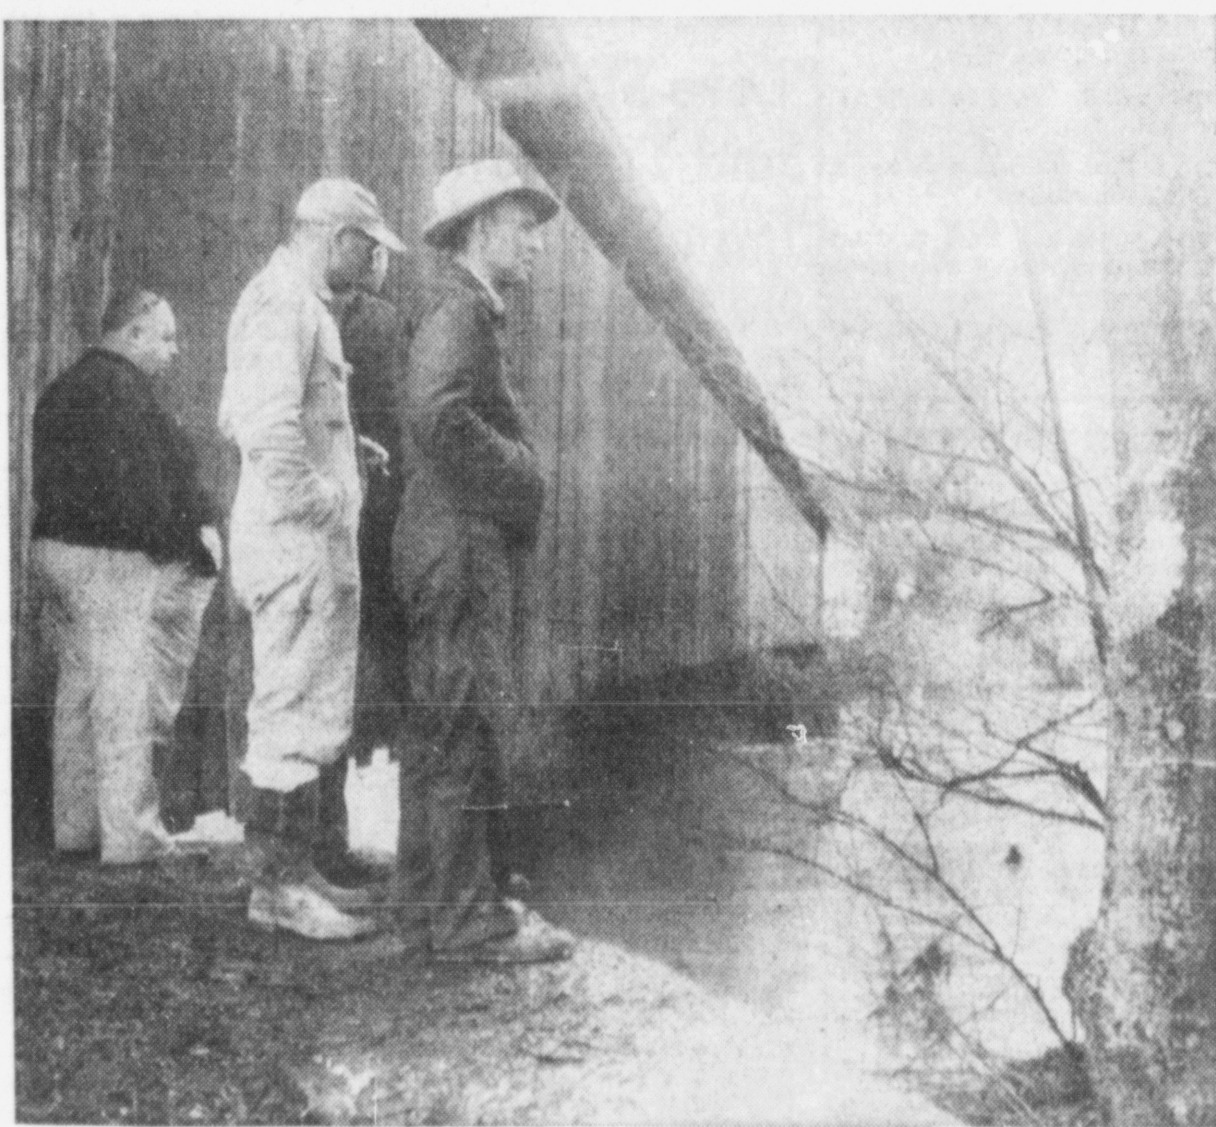

MINNIE MORALES, 28, a typist, said the trouble in the bar began when three young men she had never seen before insisted that she dance with them. Police said they had been denied service earlier, but returned for a second time.

"They started pawing me, so the bartender and two or three other customers threw them and an older man they were with out on the street," she said.

Miss Morales was not there when the explosion occurred.

"They shook me up, trying to pick me up like that," she said. "I left and went home."

Police said about 15 persons were in the bar.

AMONG THE SEARCHERS who volunteered to help find James Miller, 17, of near Mt. Sterling, who apparently drowned Thursday evening, were the four men above. They are looking hopelessly out into Deer Creek, where the boy was lost. Covered bridge in the background is on the Yanketown Rd., about a mile downstream from where Miller was last seen. Armbrust Quarry Levee Crumbled

Floods Close Six Roads Here

Fayette Countians, looking up at gray, dripping skies Friday, crossed their fingers and wondered whether the floods that have closed six county roads and one Washington C. H. street would become a major emergency.

The first tragic note of the flood story came Thursday night when James Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of near White Oak, was lost in the swirling waters of swollen Deer Creek north of Waterloo.

A companion, Kenneth Goldsberry, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Goldsberry Sr., of Mt. Sterling, swam to shore when their rowboat overturned after it hit a log.

Sheriff Orland Hays and two of his deputies and County Engineer Charles Wagner and Joe Merritt of his staff spent most of the night looking for the body of the Miller boy.

But, they were out early Friday checking the effects of high water on roads and bridges.

MOST SERIOUS damage by the flood was at the Armbrust Sugar Creek Stone Quarry on Rt. 70 about 5 miles south of here.

Water started going over the levee that protects the quarry from Sugar Creek, only a stone's throw away, at 12:10 p. m. Thursday. The earthen levee soon was crumbling under the rush of the water, and by 7 p. m. the huge quarry—90 feet deep and 1,000 feet in diameter—was filled with the overflow from the creek.

Officers of the quarry estimated it would take at least two weeks to pump the water out of the quarry and get it back in operation again. They did not estimate the damage to equipment, but they did say that a new levee was being built to replace the one washed out and, so, the loss of the levee itself was inconsequential.

FOLLOWING 2.7 inches of rain in three days, streams started rising Thursday morning and continued on through the night, creeping slowly but surely out over the lowlands along their courses.

By Friday morning four roads in the county were under water and closed and barriers were put up on two others because the bridges were considered unsafe under the pressure of high water.

The Mark Rd. about a half mile east of Route 62 was under water for a quarter of a mile along Sugar Creek; the Snowhill Rd. was covered by the overflow of Rattlesnake Creek about 8 miles west of here; the Stuckey Rd., about a mile east of here and north of Route 22, was flooded by the North Fork of Paint Creek and the Yanketown Rd. north of Waterloo was under water after the rains turned Deer Creek into a broad river.

The bridge over Rattlesnake Creek on the Glendon-Arnold Rd. west of here and the one over Crooked Creek on the Clemens Rd., just east of the White Rd., were blocked off as unsafe to traffic.

In Cincinnati, the Ohio River was expected to crest at 40 feet. Flood stage is 52 feet. The river's Creek were all under water early Friday. The flood, while not serious, appeared to be just about holding steady. However, the water was expected to recede—if there is no more rain of consequence.

Both the public park on Millikan and Oakland Aves. and the school's Gardner Park were flooded.

Circle Ave., between Main St. and the DT&I Railroad was under water and closed to traffic Friday morning. Indications were that it would be open by late afternoon.

Water in Paint Creek had risen by early Friday to the place where it was almost lapping at the bottoms of some of the bridges. But none was considered in immediate danger.

Meanwhile, scores of residents of the city were mopping up their basements which had been flooded by three days of rain. Backed-up water had drained off some of the streets where the sewers had been unable to carry it off.

Out in the rural areas, farmers were still slogging through the mud, but the vast expanses of water standing in the field were slowly shrinking.

Reports that the Rocky Fork Lake dam had gone out under the flood pressure in Highland County gained considerable circulation here Friday morning. But a call to Hillsboro revealed that the dam was still holding and in no danger, but that the bridge at the McCopin Mill, just below the dam had been washed out late Thursday.

This is believed to have led to the erroneous report that the dam had gone out.

Rainfall Today Not Expected To Affect Swollen Rivers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain, for the fifth consecutive day, was expected to fall over most of Ohio today. But the U.S. Weather Bureau said precipitation, expected to measure one half inch, will not affect swollen tributaries of the Scioto and Ohio rivers.

Most streams in central and northern Ohio already had crested and were beginning to recede.

The weather bureau said economic loss to farmlands was not expected to be severe since most farmers have not started seeding.

Several major routes throughout Ohio were closed, the State Highway Patrol reported.

These roads were closed in Delaware County—Ohio 257 north of Ohio 37, Ohio 229 west of Ashley and Ohio 521 east of Delaware.

Ohio 752 and 762 near U. S. 23 in Pickaway County were expected to be closed later today.

Ohio 56 west of Circleville, Ohio 104 near Yellowbud and Canal road west of Circleville were shut. Three roads in Hancock County were closed. They are Ohio 15 between Findlay and Carey, U.S. 68 south of Findlay and Ohio 69 near McComb.

Ohio 73 between Trenton and Engle's Corner in Butler County was shut off by flooding waters of the Great Miami River. U.S. 127 north of Collinsville, Butler County, was covered from the overflow of Seven Mile Creek.

U. S. 27 between Oxford and College Corner was still closed because of storm Wednesday night which toppled trees and power lines across it.

Most roads in the western part of Allen County near Ottawa and Auglaize rivers remained closed. Phone service was out in southwestern Allen County.

In Cincinnati, the Ohio River was expected to crest at 40 feet. Flood stage is 52 feet. The river's tributaries either began receding late Thursday or are expected to do so today.

The Ohio River at East Liverpool was virtually stationary at 26.8 feet and no flooding in the area was reported. Flood stage in that city is 32 feet.

At Circleville, the Scioto was expected to crest this evening at 3 to 4 feet above flood stage. The Scioto continued to rise at Chillicothe to a point 3 1/2 feet above flood stage but was expected to crest Saturday.

At Piketon and Waverly, the Scioto was reported at 7 feet above flood stage. Lowland areas in central and southern Ohio probably will remain inundated for several days, but no residential areas appeared in danger.

Meanwhile, a rash of violent early April storms battered broad areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

Blizzards hit parts of the north central region. Ground blizzards lashed and disrupted travel in east central Colorado and the southeast corner of Wyoming, hit earlier in the week by the worst spring snowstorms in many years.

Heavy snow gave wintry-like scenes to the Northeast.

Gully-washing rain and vicious, erratic wind storms hit Georgia early today killing four persons, flattening homes and farm buildings.

Hardest hit was the area around Ellaville, Oglethorpe and Montezuma, about 110 miles south of Atlanta. Two children were killed near Ellaville in Schley County and two in adjoining Macon County. At least 34 homes or barns were reported destroyed.

From this area, the storm apparently tore on northeastward. It dipped down at Warner Robins to blow out windows and lift a number of roofs. It also struck again between Jeffersonville in Twiggs County and Macon.

Pal Swims Out After Boat Hits Log, overturns

Distraught Parents Hope He Is Alive; Search Continues

While his family maintained faith, searchers continued their frantic hunt for the body of a 17-year-old Mt. Sterling boy, believed drowned about 7 p. m. Thursday in raging Deer Creek.

Still missing Friday noon was James Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of the Harrison Rd., near White Oak.

He and a companion, Kenneth Goldsberry, 16, of Main St. Mt. Sterling, were in a V-bottom aluminum boat that capsized in the flooded creek about a mile north of the Yanketown Rd. bridge around 7 p. m. Thursday.

Resting at his home today, Goldsberry was severely shaken but otherwise unharmed.

Searchers, including Miller's father and brothers, John Jr., and James, had watched the creek through the night and were still at it at noon Friday. No trace of the boy had been found in or around the flooded creek by Friday noon. Goldsberry aided in the search most of the night.

Goldsberry and Miller had started out about 6 p. m. Thursday for a trip down the flooded creek. They had arranged for Miller's brother, John Jr., to meet them with his pickup truck at the Yanketown bridge.

ONLY A MILE from the bridge, four miles from the place where they started their trip on Route 56, the boat hit a submerged log and started shipping water.

"He told me to swim for it," Goldsberry said Friday. He went on: "I told him to shake off his boots. He told me to shut up and swim for it."

Goldsberry recounted that he made for a log on the creek edge and thought Miller was beside him.

"GRAB THIS!" Goldsberry said he shouted. He turned and saw Miller floating downstream, he added.

"I got out of the water. I was going back in but I couldn't see him," Goldsberry said.

Barefoot, he started running down the creek edge shouting "Jim! Jim!"

His only answer was the tumble of the raging water.

He ran all the way to the Yanketown bridge, where he found Jim's (Please turn to page two)

Picketing Denied At Funeral Home

AKRON (AP)—Pickets were withdrawn from the Adams Funeral home Thursday after a Summit County common pleas judge granted a temporary injunction prohibiting picketing by members of the Operating Engineers Union.

The judge said even peaceful picketing at the home interfered with religious freedom, pointing out that the funeral home becomes a church when rites are being conducted. Local 821 of the Operating Engineers has been picketing the Adams Funeral Home since mid-January, seeking union recognition for employees.

Quarter Million Idle Find Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Almost a quarter of a million people who were out of work in February found jobs last month. This helped boost total U. S. employment to about 64 million.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks gave newsmen this advance peek Thursday at the Census Bureau's monthly employment tally. The official report will not be out until next week.

The 64 million job figure for March is about one million higher than a year ago and about 700,000 higher than in February. It represents a record for the month, although considerably short of the annual summertime peak when students swell the nation's payrolls.

Good Grooming Clinic To Be at Bloomingburg

Site for Wednesday Event Changed To Get Space for Crowd

The 4-H good grooming clinic will be held in the Bloomingburg High School auditorium, not in Grace Methodist Church here, Wednesday.

Phil Grover, associate county agent, explained that the place of the clinic had been changed because it was feared the turnout would be too big for the church.

When the clinic was originally scheduled, it was thought it would be possible to handle the crowd in Grace Church. However, the large turnout at Wednesday night's officers and advisors conference, indicated the church facilities might be inadequate.

Approximately 400 4-H members are now expected at the clinic, which has become an annual event.

THE PROGRAM for the evening includes these highlights: Joseph Rush, physical education instructor at Jeffersonville High School, speaking on "X-R-Sizes;" Miss Gretchen Darlington, senior Health Department nurse, showing a film entitled "Teething Tips;" Miss Jane Jefferson, dietitian, at Memorial Hospital, speaking on "Food Becomes You."

The 4-H members will have group discussions. The girls will hear Miss Dorothy Mill, Revlon representative, secured through the assistance of Downtown Drug Store, speak on "Beautiful You."

Following Miss Mill's presentation, the girls will be divided into age groups for a Fashion Revue which will be presented by Craig Bros. Store, Wise's Children Shop and Solder's Store.

The boys will hear Fred Domenico, member of the high school faculty at Washington C. H. High School, discuss with them "Hi-Gee-Ology."

The evening will be concluded with refreshments.

The program for the evening is under the direction of the 4-H Council Good Grooming Clinic Committee with Mrs. Walter Carman and Mrs. Ansel Creamer serving as co-chairmen.

3 More Ohio Counties Call End to Bingo

COLUMBUS (AP)—Three more counties Thursday banned bingo in compliance with an apparent crackdown by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Huron, Richland and Sandusky were the latest counties to line up publicly behind the governor, who was aroused by a series of articles on bingo games published by the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Portage and Medina counties had responded earlier to statements by the governor that Ohio court decisions have ruled bingo promoted for any purpose to be illegal.

In Columbiana County, one big bingo establishment did not open Wednesday night and others were expected to close.

Constable Ralph C. Smith stopped a bingo game that was going in Eaton Twp., Lorain County. He said he was complying with O'Neill's announced policy.

In Cleveland, Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze and Safety Director John N. McCormick ordered police to check scattered bingo complaints in the city.

'Love Story' Said Tied to Twin Slayings

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—"It's an old love story, if you know what I mean."

In those words Maurice Chavigny, 44-year-old decorated French war hero, described his reason for shooting to death Brig. Gen. Wilbur R. McReynolds, 64, and his wife, Mrs. Faye McReynolds, 61, formerly of Zanesville and Columbus, Ohio, at their exclusive home Wednesday night.

Detective Lt. Ralph Lee said Chavigny gave this explanation in a signed, typewritten statement.

The detective reported Chavigny at another point said he had been "closely associated" with Mrs. McReynolds, but refused to elaborate on their relationship, apparently through fear of ridicule or embarrassment.

Lee said Chavigny, facing possible deportation since his visa had expired, related he had made up his mind to commit suicide.

With money given him by Mrs. McReynolds he bought a pistol and a bicycle, planning to ride to some quiet spot to shoot himself.

When he told Mrs. McReynolds he was leaving, she tried to persuade him not to, then tried to get the pistol away from him, the statement continued.

Lee said Chavigny told officers he shot Mrs. McReynolds and then shot the retired general, a one-time Ohio University athlete, when he came to her aid.

brother, John. Immediately, the search began.

"I still think he's alive," Miller's father, a farmer and a guard at the London Prison Farm, kept repeating Friday morning. He maintained: "I think he got out of the creek and collapsed on the shore. I think we'll find him yet."

After spending the night on the shore, Miller's wife finally had to be taken home to bed.

A 100-acre river island sits in the middle of Deer Creek just where the boat overturned. Searchers still maintained some hope that Miller may have got to that.

THE CIVIL DEFENSE rescue truck stayed on the scene until about 1:30 a. m., then returned to Washington C. H. Sheriff's deputies from Fayette County were out from 7 p. m. Thursday to noon Friday.

Lights were played on the creek all night as more than 100 volunteers aided in the search.

Many onlookers, however, held little hope that young Miller would be found alive. Flooded from heavy rains, the creek has pushed out of its banks and is filled with raging currents.

Members of the Miller family are Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, John Jr., 20, Bill, 16, Linda Lee, 14, Janice June, 9, and Charles Edgar 8.

Mrs. Kenneth Goldsberry Sr., the Goldsberry boy's mother, said "he is just awfully lucky, that's all."

Goldsberry has a sister, Joyce, 13, and a brother, Danny Joye, 17 months.

Goldsberry said Friday that both he and Miller could swim, but neither could swim very well. "I think it was the boots that got him," he said.

MOST FREQUENTLY mentioned was the "finish" of the band's performance Thursday night. The selections and the novelty numbers also caught the fancy of the audience. So did the staging effects that provided the backdrop for some of the numbers.

Marches predominated, but the program included popular tunes and some of the so-called "long hair" music arranged especially for band performance.

But it was the pieces in the lighter vein, such as the medley from "Show Boat" and a collection of songs from "The King and I" that got the most enthusiastic response.

FOR THE NOVELTY number, "Hey, Pedro," was done in a Mexican setting, with the band members under sombreros and colorful serapes.

Another novelty-type number was "High Tor," which was performed against a backdrop of Rocky Mountain scene projected on a screen behind the band.

British Jury Gets Summary

Society Doctor's Case Detailed by Defense

LONDON (AP)—The defense for Dr. John Bodkin Adams rested its case today and appealed to the jury to free the 58-year-old society doctor accused of murder.

Chief defense counsel Geoffrey Lawrence argued that Dr. Adams was only trying to "ease the misery" of the widow he is charged with drugging to death to inherit a chest of silver and a Rolls Royce car.

The defense did not put Dr. Adams on the witness stand to tell his own story of the death of Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell in 1950.

Lawrence asserted the issue was not whether Dr. Adams was a "good or bad" doctor in prescribing drugs but whether he is guilty of murder.

"Pause and think," Lawrence appealed to the jurors. "If this doctor for some diabolical reason, having looked after this old widow for two years or more, suddenly made up his mind—and this is the prosecution's case—to kill, God knows there was no reason."

"Death was inevitable, and you may think imminent."

LAWRENCE ADDED that what Dr. Adams is accused of is murdering with malice aforethought an old woman "of 81 years of age who was a patient at a time when she was already dying and had no more than possibly a very few weeks or a few days to live."

"Is not that a most extraordinary case, that a doctor should be accused of murdering one of his patients when she was already dying? With no intervention on his part, the end was inevitable."

Good Grooming Clinic To Be at Bloomingburg

Site for Wednesday Event Chanced To Get Space for Crowd

The 4-H good grooming clinic will be held in the Bloomingburg High School auditorium, not in Grace Methodist Church here, Wednesday.

Phil Grover, associate county agent, explained that the place of the clinic had been changed because it was feared the turnout would be too big for the church.

When the clinic was originally scheduled, it was thought it would be possible to handle the crowd in Grace Church. However, the large turnout at Wednesday night's officers and advisors conference, indicated the church facilities might be inadequate.

Approximately 400 4-H members are now expected at the clinic, which has become an annual event.

THE PROGRAM for the evening includes these highlights: Joseph Rush, physical education instructor at Jeffersonville High School, speaking on "X-R-Sizes;" Miss Gretchen Darlington, senior Health Department nurse, showing a film entitled "Teething Tips;" Miss Jane Jefferson, dietitian, at Memorial Hospital, speaking on "Food Becomes You."

The 4-H members will have group discussions. The girls will hear Miss Dorothy Mill, Revlon representative, secured through the assistance of Down Town Drug Store, speak on "Beautiful You."

Following Miss Mill's presentation, the girls will be divided into age groups for a Fashion Review which will be presented by Craig Bros. Store, Wise's Children Shop and Soldan's Store.

The boys will hear Fred Domenico, member of the high school faculty at Washington C. H. High School, discuss with them "Hi-Gee-Ology."

The evening will be concluded with refreshments.

The program for the evening is under the direction of the 4-H Council Good Grooming Clinic Committee with Mrs. Walter Carman and Mrs. Ance Creamer serving as co-chairmen.

3 More Ohio Counties Call End to Bingo

COLUMBUS (AP)—Three more counties Thursday banned bingo in compliance with an apparent crackdown by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Huron, Richland and Sandusky were the latest counties to line up publicly behind the governor, who was aroused by a series of articles on bingo games published by the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Portage and Medina counties had responded earlier to statements by the governor that Ohio court decisions have ruled bingo promoted for any purpose to be illegal.

In Columbiana County, one big bingo establishment did not open Wednesday night and others were expected to close.

Constable Ralph C. Smith stopped a bingo game that was going in Eaton Twp., Lorain County. He said he was complying with O'Neill's announced policy.

In Cleveland, Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze and Safety Director John N. McCormick ordered police to check scattered bingo complaints in the city.

WHS Band Wins Applause At Concert Thursday Night

The crowd was not as big as some of those in the past, but its applause was ample evidence that the Washington C. H. High School Band's spring concert met with hearty approval and brought unforgettable pleasure to those who heard it.

'Love Story' Said Tied to Twin Slayings

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—"It's an old love story, if you know what I mean."

In those words Maurice Chavigny, 44-year-old decorated French war hero, described his reason for shooting to death Brig. Gen. Wilbur R. McReynolds, 64, and his wife, Mrs. Faye McReynolds, 61, formerly of Zanesville and Columbus, Ohio, at their exclusive home Wednesday night.

Detective Lt. Ralph Lee said Chavigny gave this explanation in a signed, typewritten statement.

The detective reported Chavigny at another point said he had been "closely associated" with Mrs. McReynolds, but refused to elaborate on their relationship, apparently through fear of ridicule or embarrassment.

Lee said Chavigny, facing possible deportation since his visa had expired, related he had made up his mind to commit suicide.

With money given him by Mrs. McReynolds he bought a pistol and a bicycle, planning to ride to some quiet spot to shoot himself. When he told Mrs. McReynolds he was leaving, she tried to persuade him not to, then tried to get the pistol away from him, the statement continued.

Lee said Chavigny told officers he shot Mrs. McReynolds and then shot the retired general, a one-time Ohio University athlete, when he came to her aid.

brother, John. Immediately, the search began.

"I still think he's alive," Miller's father, a farmer and a guard at the London Prison Farm, kept repeating Friday morning. He maintained: "I think he got out of the creek and collapsed on the shore. I think we'll find him yet."

After spending the night on the shore, Miller's wife finally had to be taken home to bed.

A 100-acre river island sits in the middle of Deer Creek just where the boat overturned. Searchers still maintained some hope that Miller may have got to that.

THE CIVIL DEFENSE rescue truck stayed on the scene until about 1:30 a. m., then returned to Washington C. H. Sheriff's deputies from Fayette County were out from 7 p. m. Thursday to noon Friday. Lights were played on the creek all night as more than 100 volunteers aided in the search.

Many onlookers, however, held little hope that young Miller would be found alive. Flooded from heavy rains, the creek has pushed out of its banks and is filled with raging currents.

Members of the Miller family are Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, John Jr., 20, Bill, 16, Linda Lee, 14, Janice June, 9, and Charles Edgar, 8.

Mrs. Kenneth Goldsberry Sr., the Goldsberry boy's mother, said "he is just awfully lucky, that's all."

Goldsberry has a sister, Joyce, 13, and a brother, Danny Joe, 17 months.

Goldsberry said Friday that both he and Miller could swim, but neither could swim very well. "I think it was the boots that got him," he said.

under the direction of their new bandmaster, Robert Neumann, they glowed with pride while the applause still rang in their ears.

Neumann succeeded William B. Clift as head of the WHS music department last fall. Clift left here to take over a similar position at Phillips Andover Academy for boys at Andover, Mass.

MOST FREQUENTLY mentioned was the "finish" of the band's performance Thursday night. The selections and the novelty numbers also caught the fancy of the audience. So did the staging effects that provided the backdrop for some of the numbers.

Marches predominated, but the program included popular tunes and some of the so-called "long hair" music arranged especially for band performance.

But it was the pieces in the lighter vein, such as the medley from "Show Boat" and a collection of songs from "The King and I" that got the most enthusiastic response.

FOR THE NOVELTY number, "Hey, Pedro," was done in a Mexican setting, with the band members under sombreros and colorful serapes.

Another novelty-type number was "High Tor," which was performed against a backdrop of Rocky Mountain scene projected on a screen behind the band.

The band will give a repeat

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

"Solomon's Temple" was once located right here in Washington C. H., and was the subject of considerable controversy before it passed out of existence when it could no longer serve its purpose.

But Solomon of old, in all of his wisdom and glory, never dreamed of such a "temple" as that erected here.

"Solomon's Temple" stood on the site of the present Dairy Queen on Columbus Ave., and was erected by Solomon Johnson for the purpose of providing a place where he and his family and friends, could watch the ballgames on the diamond laid out on the "Old Fairgrounds," south of Columbus Ave. (on what is now part of the site of Dutch Denton's farm equipment buildings).

Mrs. Johnson for years was one of the leading carpet weavers of the community.

Old timers recall that "Solomon's Temple" was erected some 50 years ago, probably longer, and remained in use as long as the baseball games were played on the Old Fairgrounds.

Solomon first erected a raised platform for his family and himself, so they could watch the ball games without paying the 25 cents gate admission.

His venture proved so popular that he had requests from friends to use the platform, at a fee of 10 or 15 cents, to watch the games.

The first platform was extended upward another story or two, and each game saw "Solomon's Temple" filled to capacity with avid baseball fans who did not want to pass out the general admission price to the grounds.

The platforms were cheaply constructed used lumber, against the side of Solomon's house, and the "temple" was torn down when the ballgames ceased.

Ball team officials endeavored to prevent use of the "Temple" but failed, as it was on private property.

The number of narcissus, grape hyacinth, crocus, early iris, snow drop, and several other early hardy flowers are included in the list, and the tulips with their riot of colors, and the hyacinths will soon be in full bloom.

These hardy flowers have been popular for a long time, not only for their early blooming and beauty, but the fact that year after year the bloom with little attention necessary.

The early spring bloomers are as popular with present day residents as the old "bouncing bet" and hollyhocks were with the early residents of the community.

GULLS VISIT FAYETTE

The first herring gulls, probably from Lake Erie, reported in Fayette County in recent years, were spotted along Paint Creek, a half mile north of the city limits, Thursday forenoon by Mrs. Richard Rankin, who is an enthusiastic bird watcher.

Mrs. Rankin saw the gulls in the flooded field immediately south of the Carroll Halliday home, and the birds were still there Thursday afternoon.

Apparently there were a dozen or more of the gulls, either standing on the creek bank or feeding in the shallow water near the channel.

Whether the gulls were driven southward by the storm Wednesday night, or were on one of their unexplained flights to inland waters, is not known.

Police Chief Vaiden Long Thursday saw several gulls as far north as Marysville.

Mrs. Rankin also reported large numbers of various kinds of wild ducks on the flood waters of Paint Creek, and others reported many ducks on various streams in the county.

Reports indicate that there were thousands of ducks on the flooded streams in the county Thursday, and it is expected that many of them will nest within the county if they are not disturbed.

Pay Hike Repeal Bill Nets Fuss In Legislature

Roger Cloud told the House Thursday that a skeleton session of the House this afternoon will receive the bill from the Senate and immediately send it to the House Finance Committee for consideration.

House approval of the salary slash bill is such a foregone conclusion that Chairman J. Frank proated its estimated $170,000 a year saving in other sections of the state's two-year budget bill. House approval of the pay cut bill is expected Wednesday. The budget will be approved Tuesday.

O'Neill, in a special message to the Legislature Tuesday, conceded that "mental reservations" of many lawmakers over the wisdom of big, wholesale pay raises for Cabinet officials were well founded.

The governor said, in effect, that his plea for a higher pay scale for top officials was an error and he wanted it rectified as soon as possible. Higher pay, he observed, is "not always the controlling factor" in obtaining high-grade, competent department directors.

The repealer would cut back the salaries of some Cabinet officers from $18,000 to $10,000 a year and others from $18,000 to $12,000. The highway director will remain at $30,000 and the director of mental hygiene at $18,000, down $7,000 from the present level, but up $6,000 from the old salary.

Ironically, a number of Democratic-inspired amendments doomed to defeat in the Senate today probably will be offered by Republicans early next week in the House.

Speaker Cloud has told newsmen there is much sentiment in the House for striking a "middle-ground" on the salaries for top officials.

During Thursday's session the Senate managed to pass:

A House-approved bill advancing the date for dog registrations from Jan. 1 to Jan. 20. It was the sixth bill to reach final enactment during the legislative session which started Jan. 7.

The Senate also unanimously approved and sent to the House bills increasing from $2,500 to $3,500 the amount that state-chartered building and loan associations can lend for home improvements and creating a state water survey committee.

The increase in permissible loans would put state-chartered associations in a competitive position with federal building and loan firms.

The water survey group, to be appointed by the governor, would be made up of "true experts" in water problems, Sen. William Tyrrell (R-Preble) told the Senate. Tyrrell and the bill's co-sponsor, Sen. Frank W. King (D-Lucas), were members of a subcommittee of the Legislative Service Commission which studied Ohio's problem of a declining water table for the last two years.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to permit employees of boards of education to collect their salaries or wages—less fees—for serving as jurors or subpoenaed witnesses.

Presley Question Still Unresolved

ATLANTA (AP)—The question of whether "Elvis Presley deserves an athletic scholarship" still is unresolved.

Members of the Harvard College and Georgia Tech debating teams fought to a tie over that perplexing resolution Thursday night.

Harvard took the negative approach to the athletic ability of the rock 'n' roll performer. Paying Presley would be a waste of money, Harvard said.

The Tech viewpoint seemed to be that Presley would be an asset

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY
"Solomon's Temple" was once located right here in Washington C. H., and was the subject of considerable controversy before it passed out of existence when it could no longer serve its purpose.

But Solomon of old, in all of his wisdom and glory, never dreamed of such a "temple" as that erected here.

"Solomon's Temple" stood on the site of the present Dairy Queen on Columbus Ave., and was erected by Solomon Johnson for the purpose of providing a place where he and his family and friends, could watch the ballgames on the diamond laid out on the "Old Fairgrounds," south of Columbus Ave. (on what is now part of the site of Dutch Denton's farm equipment buildings).

Mrs. Johnson for years was one of the leading carpet weavers of the community.

Old timers recall that "Solomon's Temple" was erected some 50 years ago, probably longer, and remained in use as long as the baseball games were played on the Old Fairgrounds.

Solomon first erected a raised platform for his family and himself, so they could watch the ball games without paying the 25 cents gate admission.

His venture proved so popular that he had requests from friends to use the platform, at a fee of 10 or 15 cents, to watch the games.

The first platform was extended upward another story or two, and each game saw "Solomon's Temple" filled to capacity with avid baseball fans who did not want to pass out the general admission price to the grounds.

The platforms were cheaply constructed using lumber, against the side of Solomon's house, and the "temple" was torn down when the ball games ceased.

Ball team officials endeavored to prevent use of the "Temple" but failed, as it was on private property.

MANY HARDY FLOWERS

It is surprising to see the great numbers of hardy flowers and shrubs about the premises of hundreds of homes throughout Fayette County and right now they are beginning to "show themselves" with their bright blossoms.

The number of narcissus, grape hyacinth, crocus, early iris, snow drop, and several other early hardy flowers are included in the list, and the tulips with their riot of colors, and the hyacinths will soon be in full bloom.

These hardy flowers have been popular for a long time, not only for their early blooming and beauty, but the fact that year after year the bloom with little attention necessary.

The early spring bloomers are as popular with present day residents as the old "bouncing bet" and hollyhocks were with the early residents of the community.

NOW IT'S "MILK LINER"

For sometime we have been hearing much about strato-liner, streamliner, airliner, etc., but the very latest — and it is a Washington C. H. "first" — the "milk liner."

One of the big Med-Q-Pure creamery trucks in addition to bearing the firm name, has underneath it the words "milk liner".

January flood damage on Ohio River Valley placed at $71,287,000. Survey shows 10,978 motor vehicles used highways in and out of Washington C. H. daily, with Columbus Rd. carrying most traffic and Route 22 most truck traffic.

Dee Maddox sold his Washington Cafeteria to Donald E. Tong. The cafeteria was located in Schneider room in East Court St.

John King, 69, prominent farmer of Good Hope Rd., died.

Reduction in rates announced by W. M. Fryman, manager of the Bell Telephone Co.

The Dayton Power and Light Co. was serving 5,300 customers, and had 750 rural customers.

WPA dropped a dozen workers who were loafing on the job.

M. J. Sturgeon, deputy in Probate Judge's Office, who had served 51 consecutive years in public office, celebrated his 93rd birthday, still working.

Corn was selling at $1.15, highest price in many years, and $1.01 more per bushel than it was bringing in 1933.

Frank A. Chaffin, 37, prominent businessman, died.

Gwynn Elevators announced plans for five additional concrete storage bins of 20,000 bushels each, to be built during year.

GULLS VISIT FAYETTE

The first herring gulls, probably from Lake Erie, reported in Fayette

County in recent years, were spotted along Paint Creek, a half mile north of the city limits, Thursday forenoon by Mrs. Richard Rankin, who is an enthusiastic bird watcher.

Mrs. Rankin saw the gulls in the flooded field immediately south of the Carroll Halliday home, and the birds were still there Thursday afternoon.

Apparently there were a dozen or more of the gulls, either standing on the creek bank or feeding in the shallow water near the channel.

Whether the gulls were driven southward by the storm Wednesday night, or were on one of their unexplained flights to inland waters, is not known.

Police Chief Vaiden Long Thursday saw several gulls as far north as Marysville.

Mrs. Rankin also reported large numbers of various kinds of wild ducks on the flood waters of Paint Creek, and others reported many ducks on various streams in the county.

Reports indicate that there were thousands of ducks on the flooded streams in the county Thursday, and it is expected that many of them will nest within the county if they are not disturbed.

Slaying Suspect Takes Own Life

CHICAGO (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled as suicide today the fatal shooting of a 25-year-old man about to be questioned about the unsolved murders of three school boys.

David Burch shot himself March 6 in the bedroom of his home where police had taken him for questioning about a complaint made by a boy that Burch had taken obscene photographs of him.

Police wanted to question him to see if there was any link with the October 1955 killing of John and Anton Schuessler and Robert Peterson whose nude bodies were found in a woodland ditch.

Burch had been placed under court supervision in 1952 for his involvement with a boy. Burch was employed by Loyola University to interview prospective students.

Pay Hike Repeal Bill Nets Fuss In Legislature

Regulation To Follow More Subsidizing

It is easy for propagandists who represent various types of bureaucracy to publicize statements which are shown to be definitely misleading when some one or some group has the time, money and energy, to dig up the facts which refute such statements.

One man, a recognized authority in his field, Roger A. Freeman, formerly Research Director of the Education Committee of the U. S. Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, has had the courage to definitely deny a number of commonly held conceptions by the public concerning the nation's schools.

In the past few years the public has become almost over-wrought with emotion through the appeals for greater government school financial aid. In this school administrators have taken advantage of the opportunity to further emotionalize the public as to school needs, to a degree where people were willing to support almost anything the schools sought, regardless of cost.

Even the federal government leaders seem intent in following this line. Furthermore and the pressure has shifted a way from better education and better teaching to obtaining more money for personnel and expensive buildings.

One fallacy which Mr. Freeman cites is that schools are being discriminated against in the allocation of public funds. Actually, education has for many years been the largest item of public expenditure in this country, save only for the national defense. The United States spends a larger share of its national income on schools than any other country of record.

Another fallacy is that the teacher shortage grows worse and worse. The teacher-pupil ratio in 1900 was one to 36.7, in 1930 it was one to 30.1, and in 1955 it was one to 26.9. He adds, "Much of the teacher shortage is due to the inefficient use of the available teachers."

Another fallacy—and an extremely important one today—is that the states and communities lack the fiscal capacity to meet school needs, so the federal government must provide support. Mr. Freeman quotes the Education Committee with which he was associated as reporting no state is unable to support an adequate school system, and that federal aid is not necessary.

Finally, Mr. Freeman points out that if the government is going to pay for the schools, it is ultimately going to run them. As a U. S. Supreme Court decision said in 1942: "It is hardly a lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes."

It will be easy to have a rapid growth of educational bureaucracy which will grow just as other types of bureaucracy have become enlarged to a degree that they control government rather than serve it.

Next: An Automatic Dog Finder

By Hal Boyle

MORGANVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Science has come up with all sorts of gadgets including depth finders and radar to help fishermen locate their finny prey. But it has kind of neglected the fisherman's fellow hobbyist, the hunter.

Steve Lavoie, an electronics engineer whose pastime is tracking down big game in odd corners of the world, aims to correct that lack. He's working on something really new for ardent woodsmen, an automatic dog finder.

Steve is head of a firm that has developed a number of electronic instruments for the government's highly secret defense missile program.

His idea for a radio dog locator came to him on a recent hunting trip to Colombia during which two cattle-killing jaguars were bagged.

Specially trained dogs, valued at $500 to $1,000 each, are used to track down the big elusive South American tiger, as the jaguar is often called.

A cornered jaguar, unless the hunters arrive quickly, may ambush and kill or maim a pack of 7 to 10 of these valuable dogs. Sometimes an injured dog will crawl off and become lost in the jungle.

Steven's radio aid to hunting is quite simple. It consists of a three-pound radio sending set attached to the dog's back, and a slightly heavier receiving set carried by the guide.

"A dog can carry such a set

all day in the jungle," said Steve. "Our only problem is to put on an antenna that won't let him tangled in the brush. But even if it does we can quickly locate him and set him free."

"We'll be able to know where the pack is at all times," he added, "and can tell by the sound of the dogs' barking how close the pack is to its prey."

Does the automatic dog locator have any nonhunting uses? "Well," said Steve, smiling, "it could be used by a wife to keep track of her wandering husband if she could get him to wear the sending set."

Lavoie hopes to use the new equipment, still in the designing stage, in a hunt soon for a legendary big cat called the onza in the mountains of Mexico.

America's Communist Party

By George Sokolsky

There is a tendency to accept the American communist party as a reformed body that purged itself of its indecencies at the 16th national convention in February.

Actually that convention confirmed the Moscow control of the party which remains an arm of the Kremlin as it has been all the years of its existence.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, has summarized the results of the 16th national convention of the American communist party as follows:

"1. Despite a year of debate, the party retained its old name and traditional organization.

"2. The party continued the majority of its old leadership.

"3. The party reaffirmed its adherence to the basic concepts of Marxism-Leninism.

"4. The party reaffirmed its acceptance of 'proletarian internationalism.'

"5. The party refused to take a stand against the Soviet rape of Hungary.

"6. The party refused to take a stand against the tyranny and anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union.

"7. The party at no time passed any resolution during the convention declaring its independence of the Soviet Union, nor did it urge freedom in the satellites, nor did it support American foreign policy to the detriment of Soviet foreign policy; and at no time did it disavow its dependence upon the Soviet Union or its loyalty to the Soviet Union.

In fact, upon its conclusion, the Soviet-controlled press hailed the communist party, U.S.A. for remaining loyal to the principles of Marxism-Leninism.

"8. The party reaffirmed its adherence to the basic Leninist concept of democratic centralism, even more than in prior conventions, through the selection of convention delegates who were primarily functionaries, and who ended the convention agreeing that 'the party won' and that there was 'unity.'"

Although the American party is small in membership, it remains a disciplined body which now has the advantage of a certain acceptance hitherto withheld from it. During the past few weeks, communist functionaries have found platforms in American universities and among learned societies, which had, during the past few years, avoided association with Kremlin agents.

The general atmosphere seems to be favorable to united front activity such as was usual in the 1930s. The policy of the Kremlin is to develop united front organizations in all countries as an offset to the trend toward the re-emergence of anti-Kremlin socialist parties. It is perhaps significant that the committee of the Senate which is devoting itself to discovering corruption in labor unions used to be the McCarthy committee which devoted itself to the uncovering of communists in government.

The real objective of the united front movement in the United States is to get around such legislation as the Smith Act by creating the impression that the American communist party is really a social and educational organization rather than an espionage arm of an alien government.

The party has gone underground after the McCarthy investigations and had to create a mechanism for re-emerging into the open.

The united front is such a mechanism, for it makes it possible for the party to use non-communists as an umbrella for active party members. It is easier to recruit new members through united front organizations than to attempt to bring them directly into the party without the testing involved in an intermediary step.

But most of all the united front is useful because it gives an aura of respectability to communist operatives. It is often possible to find dupes who lend their names to head communist operations because they agree with the announced purposes of particular committees or organizations; when they are discovered to be dupes, they are usually indignant that others do not take them at their own valuation.

The dupes have served the communists often more ably than some party members.

Anti-communists are aware of the need for eternal vigilance, but the hope of the communists is that a general antipathy to an enforced conformity to any pattern will work in their favor.

Further, they feel that no Congressional committee will ever be as relentless as Sen. McCarthy was because such conduct does not pay off politically. The fact is that currently most efforts at investigating communism hardly attract notice.

They are taking a chance that the cry against McCarthyism will work in their favor, as it actually is working at the present time.

Use of Nose Drops Should Be with Care

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Using nose drops is not quite the simple procedure most people probably think it is.

Unless you take them in the right way you might lose all or most of the benefit they should give you. And using the wrong type of drops in the wrong way might actually be harmful.

Two types

Pharmaceutical firms make nose drops with either oily or watery base. While it's up to your doctor to prescribe what kind of drops are best for you and when and if you should use them, I think most physicians generally agree that those with a watery base are best.

This doesn't mean that any nasal medication dissolved in plain water is right for you. Such water usually is irritating to the mucus membranes and might make the mucus flow at a faster rate than that which ordinarily accompanies a cold.

Salt and Water

One of the best bases probably is one containing a salt and water combination similar to that of the body's fluids.

Now about the method of using the drops.

It does little good to take them

when in a sitting position. The medication simply runs along the bottom of your nose and drops into your throat missing the nasal membranes.

One of the best methods that doctors use is either of the following:

With a pillow supporting your shoulder, lie on one side, with your head hanging lower than your body. Drop the medication into the lower nostril. Remain in this position for a moment or two and then turn over and repeat the process with the other nostril.

Although this is a very good way of doing it, a somewhat easier method is simply to lie on your back with your head draped over the edge of the bed, couch or chair. Then drop the medicine into both nostrils and hold the position for about two minutes.

And that should do it.

You're Telling Me

By WILLIAM RITT

The Democrats, declares one of their leaders, need "new ideas, new policies and new faces." Sounds as though he wants a new party.

What with "modern Republicanism" and now, "new Democrats"—seems like there'll be no room for an old-fashioned politician.

The hyena, according to Factographs, has the most powerful jaws of all carnivorous animals. This certainly makes him no laughing matter.

The Australian government has just issued a series of postage stamps for use in that commonwealth's Antarctic territories. Got any penguins on your mailing list?

Trouble with early spring weather is that often it proves to be just intermission between regular and late winter.

To economize, Britain is disbanding its weekend volunteer flyers' group. Too bad we can't demobilize Sunday drivers as easily.

A Paris court has ruled that French Radicals have the right to the name "radical Socialist party." However, that's probably not what the opposition will continue to call 'em.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Fife Knowland, the 48-year-old Californian who may seek the presidency someday, continues what he's been doing since he became Republican leader in the Senate in 1953.

He continues to criticize and oppose President Eisenhower's programs when it suits him, which is often. If it seems strange that the Senate Republican leader should buck the Republican President, Knowland has offered an explanation:

He thinks, he said, it's his job to bring about a meeting of Senate minds on the President's proposals. He was quoted in Look magazine as saying he will agree with the President "unless it involves a matter of deep personal principles."

And he has said he has supported Eisenhower's program most of the time. Two years ago he claimed a 90 per cent record on that score.

Eisenhower has avoided a break with the senator, who must be a thorn in his side many times. Diplomatically he said of the differences between them that they are really more a matter of method than of principle.

Knowland announced not long ago he would quit the Senate when his term ends in January 1959. He had his eye on the White House in 1956, until Eisenhower said he would run again. Knowland hasn't denied he'll look in the same direction in 1960.

Knowland has repeatedly been critical of the United Nations. Eisenhower has tried to build it up and puts a lot of reliance in it.

This year Knowland wants to cut the President's budget and his foreign aid program. He also is against giving Communist Poland economic aid although the administration invited the Poles to America to discuss aid.

When the administration talked of sanctions against Israel unless it got out of Egypt, Knowland called this immoral unless sanctions were also invoked against Russia for not getting out of Hungary. Israel pulled its troops out; Russia still hasn't.

Going backwards to 1953, here were some other Knowland positions:

He objected to Eisenhower's sending Gen. Nathan F. Twining to Russia on a visit. He said the United States "retreated from principle" in agreeing to a "package deal" which let four Communist and 12 non-Communist nations into the U. N.

He doubted beforehand, the wisdom of Eisenhower's Big Four meeting with the Russians, British and French in Geneva in 1955 and cautioned against a "sell-out." He objected when Eisenhower that same year said he was willing to talk to the Red Chinese about a cease-fire around Formosa.

When the administration released the Yalta papers — the Roosevelt - Churchill - Stalin wartime talks — and Eisenhower said he hoped they would not be used for political purposes, Knowland said, "I don't agree."

He derided as "nonsense" Secretary of State Dulles' statement in 1955 that this country would not defend the Matsu and Quemoy islands off Formosa unless they were used as stepping stones for an attack on Formosa itself.

Knowland wanted this country to blockade the Red China coast to bring about the release of captured American fliers and to serve an ultimatum on the Red Chinese, backed by "effective action," if they were not released.

He got neither wish. Eisenhower said such a blockade would be an act of war. And Eisenhower left him talking to himself when he one time called for a diplomatic break with Russia.

In 1954 he was so displeased with Eisenhower's handling of foreign policy that he called for a congressional review of it. And he voted for the final version of the Bricker Amendment — opposed by Eisenhower — which could limit the President's treaty-making powers.

Regulation To Follow More Subsidizing

It is easy for propagandists who represent various types of bureaucracy to publicize statements which are shown to be definitely misleading when some one or some group has the time, money and energy, to dig up the facts which refute such statements.

One man, a recognized authority in his field, Roger A. Freeman, formerly Research Director of the Education Committee of the U. S. Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, has had the courage to definitely deny a number of commonly held conceptions by the public concerning the nation's schools.

In the past few years the public has become almost over-wrought with emotion through the appeals for greater government school financial aid. In this school administrators have taken advantage of the opportunity to further emotionalize the public as to school needs, to a degree where people were willing to support almost anything the schools sought, regardless of cost.

Even the federal government leaders seem intent in following this line. Furthermore and the pressure has shifted away from better education and better teaching to obtaining more money for personnel and expensive buildings.

One fallacy which Mr. Freeman cites is that schools are being discriminated against in the allocation of public funds. Actually, education has for many years been the largest item of public expenditure in this country, save only for the national defense. The United States spends a larger share of its national income on schools than any other country of record.

Another fallacy is that the teacher shortage grows worse and worse. The teacher - pupil ratio in 1900 was one to 36.7, in 1930 it was one to 30.1, and in 1955 it was one to 26.9. He adds, "Much of the teacher shortage is due to the inefficient use of the available teachers."

Another fallacy—and an extremely important one today—is that the states and communities lack the fiscal capacity to meet school needs, so the federal government must provide support. Mr. Freeman quotes the Education Committee with which he was associated as reporting no state is unable to support an adequate school system, and that federal aid is not necessary.

Finally, Mr. Freeman points out that if the government is going to pay for the schools, it is ultimately going to run them. As a U. S. Supreme Court decision said in 1942: "It is hardly a lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes."

It will be easy to have a rapid growth of educational bureaucracy which will grow just as other types of bureaucracy have become enlarged to a degree that they control government rather than serve it.

Next: An Automatic Dog Finder

MORGANVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Science has come up with all sorts of gadgets including depth finders and radar to help fishermen locate their finny prey.

But it has kind of neglected the fisherman's fellow hobbyist, the hunter.

Steve Lavoie, an electronics engineer whose pastime is tracking down big game in odd corners of the world, aims to correct that lack. He's working on something really new for ardent woodsmen, an automatic dog finder.

Steve is head of a firm that has developed a number of electronic instruments for the government's highly secret defense missile program.

His idea for a radio dog locator came to him on a recent hunting trip to Colombia during which two cattle-killing jaguars were bagged.

Specially trained dogs, valued at $500 to $1,000 each, are used to track down the big elusive South American tiger, as the jaguar is often called.

A cornered jaguar, unless the hunters arrive quickly, may ambush and kill or maim a pack of 7 to 10 of these valuable dogs. Sometimes an injured dog will crawl off and become lost in the jungle.

Steven's radio aid to hunting is quite simple. It consists of a three-pound radio sending set attached to the dog's back, and a slightly heavier receiving set carried by the guide.

"A dog can carry such a set

all day in the jungle," said Steve. "Our only problem is to put on an antenna that won't let him tangled in the brush. But even if it does we can quickly locate him and set him free."

"We'll be able to know where the pack is at all times," he added, "and can tell by the sound of the dogs' barking how close the pack is to its prey."

Does the automatic dog locator have any nonhunting uses?

"Well," said Steve, smiling, "it could be used by a wife to keep track of her wandering husband if she could get him to wear the sending set."

Lavoie hopes to use the new equipment, still in the designing stage, in a hunt soon for a legendary big cat called the onza in the mountains of Mexico.

America's Communist Party

There is a tendency to accept the American communist party as a reformed body that purged itself of its indecencies at the 16th national convention in February.

Actually that convention confirmed the Moscow control of the party which remains an arm of the Kremlin as it has been all the years of its existence.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, has summarized the results of the 16th national convention of the American communist party as follows:

"1. Despite a year of debate, the party retained its old name and traditional organization.

"2. The party continued the majority of its old leadership.

"3. The party reaffirmed its adherence to the basic concepts of Marxism-Leninism.

"4. The party reaffirmed its acceptance of 'proletarian internationalism.'

"5. The party refused to take a stand against the Soviet rate of slugging.

"6. The party refused to take a stand against the tyranny and anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union.

"7. The party at no time passed any resolution during the convention declaring its independence of the Soviet Union, nor did it urge freedom in the satellites, nor did it support American foreign policy to the detriment of Soviet foreign policy; and at no time did it disavow its dependence upon the Soviet Union or its loyalty to the Soviet Union.

In fact, upon its conclusion, the Soviet-controlled press hailed the communist party, U.S.A. for remaining loyal to the principles of Marxism-Leninism."

"8. The party reaffirmed its adherence to the basic Leninist concept of democratic centralism, even more than in prior conventions, through the selection of convention delegates who were primarily functionaries, and who ended the convention agreeing that 'the party won' and that there was 'unity.'"

Although the American party is small in membership, it remains a disciplined body which now has the advantage of a certain acceptance hitherto withheld from it. During the past few weeks, communist functionaries have found platforms in American universities and among learned societies, which had, during the past few years, avoided association with Kremlin agents.

The general atmosphere seems to be favorable to united front activity such as was usual in the 1930s. The policy of the Kremlin is to develop united front organizations in all countries as an offset to the trend toward the re-emergence of anti-Kremlin socialist parties. It is perhaps significant that the committee of the Senate which is devoting itself to discovering corruption in labor unions used to be the McCarthy committee which devoted itself to the uncovering of communists in government.

The real objective of the united front movement in the United States is to get around such legislation as the Smith Act by creating the impression that the American communist party is really a social and educational organization rather than an espionage arm of an alien government.

The party has gone underground after the McCarthy investigations and had to create a mechanism for re-emerging into the open.

The united front is such a mechanism, for it makes it possible for the party to use non-communists as an umbrella for active party members. It is easier to recruit new members through united front organizations than to attempt to bring them directly into the party without the testing involved in an intermediary step.

But most of all the united front is useful because it gives an aura of respectability to communist operatives. It is often possible to find dupes who lend their names to head communist operations because they agree with the announced purposes of particular committees or organizations; when they are discovered to be dupes, they are usually indignant that others do not take them at their own valuation.

The dupes have served the communists often more ably than some party members.

Anti-communists are aware of the need for eternal vigilance, but the hope of the communists is that a general antipathy to an enforced conformity to any pattern will work in their favor.

Further, they feel that no Congressional committee will ever be as relentless as Sen. McCarthy was because such conduct does not pay off politically. The fact is that currently most efforts at investigating communism—hardly attract notice.

They are taking a chance that the cry against McCarthyism will work in their favor, as it actually is working at the present time.

Use of Nose Drops Should Be with Care

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Using nose drops is not quite the simple procedure most people probably think it is.

Unless you take them in the right way you might lose all or most of the benefit they should give you. And using the wrong type of drops in the wrong way might actually be harmful.

Two types

Pharmaceutical firms make nose drops with either oily or watery base. While it's up to your doctor to prescribe what kind of drops are best for you and when and if you should use them, I think most physicians generally agree that those with a watery base are best.

This doesn't mean that any nasal medication dissolved in plain water is right for you. Such water usually is irritating to the mucus membranes and might make the mucus flow at a faster rate than that which ordinarily accompanies a cold.

Salt and Water

One of the best bases probably is one containing a salt and water combination similar to that of the body's fluids.

Now about the method of using the drops.

It does little good to take them

when in a sitting position. The medication simply runs along the bottom of your nose and drops into your throat missing the nasal membranes.

One of the best methods that doctors use is either of the following:

With a pillow supporting your shoulder, lie on one side, with your head hanging lower than your body. Drop the medication into the lower nostril. Remain in this position for a moment or two and then turn over and repeat the process with the other nostril.

Although this is a very good way of doing it, a somewhat easier method is simply to lie on your back with your head draped over the edge of the bed, couch or chair. Then drop the medicine into both nostrils and hold the position for about two minutes.

And that should do it.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE ASTONISHING collaborations in Hollywood history came about when producer Howard Hawks nominated Mississippi's Nobel Prize novelist, William Faulkner, and Philadelphia mystery writer Harry Kurnitz to work on an Egyptian spectacular, The Last of the Pharaohs.

"This will be the first time in history," predicted Kurnitz, "that Pharaoh speaks with a Southern Jewish accent!" He added that this was the way the whole project started:

"I was sitting on the terrace of Fouquet's restaurant in Paris idly building a pyramid of sugar cubes. Hawks saw me and said, 'I've got it! Let's do a picture about the Pharaohs!' Next thing I knew, Bill Faulkner and I were gazing apprehensively at a typewriter in a hotel room in Cairo!"

Grandma Moses always was insistent that her daughter study painting. "After all," she explained, "there's got to be someone to whom I can leave the business!"

Evangelism Seen As Increasing now

COLUMBUS (AP)—A leader of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. said today "this generation is experiencing a new interest in evangelism, and America is in a mood to receive the Christian gospel."

The Rev. Berlyn V. Farris of New York, executive director of the Joint Department of Evangelism of the National Council, said an awakened interest in evangelism may be the prelude to another "religious awakening" in American history. Rev. Mr. Farris spoke before a conference of evangelism leaders of the United Lutheran Church in America.

State Premiums On Fund Trimmed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill has announced an average 9½ per cent cut in premium payments by cities, counties and other public employers into the State Workmen's Compensation Fund for the protection of injured employees.

The net saving will total $87,000 a year, the governor reported.

His announcement followed a report by Chalmers P. Wylie, workmen's compensation administrator, that the State Industrial Commission had agreed to rate revisions. Several public employers had their rates increased, although the over-all changes resulted in general reduction.

Michigan Mayor Gets Ohio Term

TOLEDO (AP)—The mayor of Petersburg, Mich., William K. Gee, was sentenced to three days in the workhouse Thursday on a drunk driving conviction.

Gee, 38, was arrested March 20 after his automobile crashed through a barricade at the site of the old Ash-Consault Bridge over the Maumee River and narrowly missed hitting a policeman.

After his arrest, Gee was reported to have warned the officers: "Don't ever show up in Petersburg."

In every man's life there is a moment when he is inadequate to the forces he faces. At such a time only his moral integrity will sustain him.

Those who have based their lives on their own strength inevitably will face the time and the place when that strength is insufficient to the necessity of the moment. The man who has learned to rely on God can draw from this source of never-failing power and with resurgent strength face his future, unafraid.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU
Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that the young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a molding religious character. In the church the ministerial and the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCHGOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

The topic for the evening was "Great Religions of the World and Their Basic Teachings." This was presented in two well prepared and instructive papers given by Mrs. Stanley Scott and Mrs. W. A. Lovell. Mrs. Scott gave accounts of Hinduism, Buddhism and the religions of China.

Hinduism, the oldest of all religions, goes back 4,000 years. Our earliest knowledge of it comes from sacred books called the Vedas which were composed by early Aryans about 1,000 B. C. A long poem, Gita, or the Song of God contains the gospel of Hinduism. The Indo-Aryan tribes of the North invaded the Indus and Ganges River Valleys. The caste system developed by attempts of Aryans to keep the conquered people in an inferior position. Four basic castes were recognized. The basic thought behind the Hindu Religion is to obtain release from evil. The sublime objective is to achieve union with God—the eternal spirit which they call Brahman.

Gautama, the founder of Buddhism, was born in Nepal 563 B. C. He became known as the Buddha or the Enlightened One. He traveled through India for 45 years teaching that men should seek complete unselfishness, for the way to Nirvana lay through killing all personal desires. Soon after his death, he was worshipped as a God. Buddhism flourished in India for 1,000 years but gradually merged with Hinduism.

In China there are three large pillars of thought, Confucianism, Buddhism, and Taoism. The foundation of China's social system rests upon the ethical teachings of Confucius.

The Chinese have great reverence for nature and great respect for parents, ancestors, and scholars.

In Japan there is a mixture of Buddhism and a native religion of Shinto, which is largely a religion of natural forces.

Dinner Meeting Held by Women's Association

Women of the First Presbyterian Church held their Association meeting Wednesday evening in Westminster Hall, preceded by a delightful dinner, served to the fifty members present by Circle 3, of which Mrs. Hazel Devins was the chairman. Many spring flower arrangements decorated the table which added to the pleasure of the guests.

Seated at the head table were four past presidents of the association, Mrs. C. S. Kelley, Mrs. M. H. Whitfield, Mrs. Charles Reinke and Mrs. Leo Edwards also the present president, Mrs. Luke Musser, and other officers.

The program of the evening, preceded by a short business session, was held in the sanctuary of the church.

Mrs. John Forsythe, program chairman, used as her topic "Basic Protestant Beliefs." She began by asking "If someone asked you what it means to be a Christian, what would you say?" One of the many answers given was that, being a Christian gives one hope for life after death. Another question was "What difference does it make to you that you are a Christian?" It was agreed by all that a Christian is tolerant, loving, forgiving and Christianity gives us a plan to live by.

The great need is for more faith and understanding. Christian faith can never be put into words, it is a way of life, centered in Jesus Christ. He is a living fact. He did live and He does live. There is much work to do in His Kingdom. Mrs. Kenneth Bush, Mrs. John Sagar Sr., and Mrs. George Finley continued the panel discussion and thoughts brought out were summarized as follows:

Our basic beliefs include sovereignty of God, priesthood of all believers, authority of the Scriptures, good work and justification by faith.

The leaders then asked for testimonies from members who had wonderful church school teachers

Talk On Various Religions

Given at Browning Club Meeting

The Browning Club held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Marguerite Hodge. The president, Mrs. Willard Bitzer, presided. The secretary, Mrs. Charles Fultz, read the minutes of the previous meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Robert Angus. The president called for reports from various committees. Announcement was made that the banquet will be in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Tuesday, April 30, at 6:30 p. m. If possible, reservations are desired by noon of the preceding Saturday. An interesting program is being planned for members and guests.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. Donald Murdock; vice president, Mrs. John P. Case; secretary, Mrs. Donald Soale; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Angus.

In the absence of the history department chairman, Mrs. W. A. Smith, the program was announced by the vice-chairman, Miss Golda Baughn. The topic for the evening was "Great Religions of the World and Their Basic Teachings." This was presented in two well prepared and instructive papers given by Mrs. Stanley Scott and Mrs. W. A. Lovell. Mrs. Scott gave accounts of Hinduism, Buddhism and the religions of China.

Hinduism, the oldest of all religions, goes back 4,000 years. Our earliest knowledge of it comes from sacred books called the Vedas which were composed by early Aryans about 1,000 B. C. A long poem, Gita, or the Song of God, contains the gospel of Hinduism. The Indo-Aryan tribes of the North invaded the Indus and Ganges River Valleys. The caste system developed by attempts of Aryans to keep the conquered people in an inferior position. Four basic castes were recognized. The Chinese have great reverence for nature and great respect for parents, ancestors, and scholars.

In Japan there is a mixture of Buddhism and a native religion of Shinto, which is largely a religion of natural forces.

Mrs. Lovell gave accounts of Judaism leading to the birth of Jesus and Mohammedanism. Judaism begins in the earliest record of mankind. A small group of people were strategically placed in the center of the development of the ancient medieval, and modern civilizations. Their record begun so long ago has not ended. The sphere of their influence from small beginning in what one might call center of earth's surface has permeated and leavened the life of all human existence even making a penetration into the unknown fields of eternal living. Geographical conditions play a large part in the degree of civilization reached by every group of people. The truth of this fact has been proven in the growth and spread of Judaism. The period of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and Joseph fits quite well into the Hyksos background. The Hebrew Nation was consolidated and enlarged through King Saul and his son Jonathan. David increased the territory as far south as the Gulf of Akaba. King Solomon established intercourse with the rest of the world through trade. There were many prophets in Judaism. Quotations were given from the prophets, Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, Micah, and Jeremiah. From Isaiah came the prophecy of the coming of Christ, the Prince of Peace. Later prophets brought out the idea of God's world wideeness and in Jesus culminate the truth of God's fatherhood for mankind and the brotherhood of man.

The religion of Islam today numbers about four hundred million converts. It is the dominant faith in the southern and eastern Mediterranean lands as well as in western Asia. The Islamic or Muslim creed is simple: There is no God but Allah (the Arabic word for God) and Mohammed is his messenger. The Muslim believe that Mohammed is the last messenger of God. Their Bible, the Koran, is meant to establish relationship between man and man as well as between man and God. They believe the Koran was given to Mohammed by the Angel Gabriel. Many reforms have been made in Mohammedanism.

After the conclusion of the meeting, the guests enjoyed a social time.

The Kentucky Derby American horse races, ran first in 1875.

I PERFORMED THE AMAZING
WESTINGHOUSE 'SAND TEST'
Right in my own home!!

MRS. RAY WILSON
220 Dean Ave., Lancaster, Ohio

Lancaster, Ohio
Mrs. Ray Wilson invited a few neighbors into her home and performed the amazing Westinghouse sand test on her laundry.

She put six towels into her laundry, then added TWO CUPS of SAND and some detergent, and set it for a normal wash cycle. Her neighbors were pleasantly surprised to discover how clean the towels came out—not a speck of sand on them.

They just couldn't get over how clean the tub was afterwards. One neighbor rubbed the inside of the tub with her white hankie and there wasn't a trace of sand on it.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 12
Millions saw this same sand test on Studio One. Three well-known center post automatics were given the same test—and all three left sand in towels and washers too.

THOUSANDS OF "SAND TESTS" ARE BEING PERFORMED DAILY BY WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDROMAT OWNERS

Many homemakers have been doing "sand tests" in their Westinghouse Laundromats for the past 10 to 12 years. Of course, they aren't putting in two cups of sand like Mrs. Wilson did but their children's clothes have been contributing sand, grit and grease just the same. The sand in Mrs. Wilson's "sand test" merely represents the flow of dirty water as it drains out of the washer. The patented Westinghouse Revolving Agitator drains the dirty water, sand, grit and grease away from the clothes and down the drain. Old fashioned centerpost agitator washers must strain the water through the clothes and redeposit sand and lint on the newly washed clothes.

HERE'S WHAT HER NEIGHBORS SAID:

MRS. DELMAR KLONTZ
1615 W. Chestnut, Lancaster, O.
MRS. PAUL STARNER
236 Dean Ave., Lancaster, Ohio

"After seeing the amazing 'sand test' conducted in Mrs. Wilson's home I decided on the Westinghouse Laundromat."
"Now I can see why it is so important to rinse clothes properly, the 'sand test' really proves the Westinghouse 'Rinsing Story'."

MRS. CARL PARRISH
501 W. Main St., Lancaster, O.

"I was undecided between the Westinghouse Laundry Twins and another well-known brand. After seeing the amazing sand test I bought Westinghouse."
"The sand test makes a lot of sense—if the tub is clean after all that sand runs through, the clothes just simply MUST be clean."

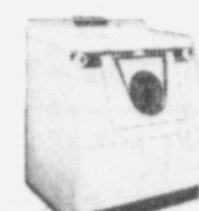

MRS. JOHN NIEHISER
243 Dean Ave., Lancaster, Ohio

WOULD YOU TRY THIS TEST IN YOUR WASHER?

1. Wash a load of dirty greasy work clothes or old rags. Borrow some if necessary.
2. Do NOT clean out tub when finished!
3. Put in your most expensive dainty silk or nylon garment.

If you own a Westinghouse Laundromat have no fear, because it's self cleaning!
If you own a Center Post Agitator Washer, better peek in the tub before putting in that dainty garment!!

Phillies Have Good Mound Staff, Little Else, for '57

Editor's Note: Here is another in a series of articles giving an analysis of major league baseball for 1957.

By JOE REICHLER
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Ask manager Mayor Smith about his Philadelphia Phillies and he starts spouting about his pitching staff. It's obvious he has little else to float about. If it weren't for the pitching the team would be a candidate for the cellar. Even with it the Phils face a stern fight to retain their fifth place rating of 1956.

The club's biggest need last winter was a shortstop — and it still is. It is almost certain now that John Kennedy, who has done all his professional playing with the Kansas City Monarchs, will be the first Negro member of the Phillies. Although not yet on the roster, Kennedy is a cinch to be brought to Philadelphia and may even open the season at shortstop. Up to last week, the 26-year-old paced the entire club at bat with a .500 average and had played through nine games without an error.

Rebuffed at every turn in their efforts to land a proven big league shortstop, the Phils were expected to finally close a deal with Brooklyn for Chico Fernandez, the Dodgers' second string shortstop. Brooklyn reportedly has been asking for a chunk of cash and two minor league players.

"Our pitching will have to hold us up," conceded Smith. "We don't figure to get many runs. At least, we haven't been scoring too many runs this spring. Our power is going to have to come from Rip Repulski, Willie Jones and Stan Lopata. We could use a good long ball lefthanded hitter."

The Phils tried to get Gus Bell, the lefthanded slugger, from Cincinnati but shied away when the Reds demanded Richie Ashburn and Jones in return. Trade talk with St. Louis involved the Cardinals' Wally Moon and Alvin Dark.

Sought Death

AN OFFICER escorts Isamillo Detres, 11, of Puerto Rico, to New York's Bellevue hospital for psychiatric observation after the boy twice was prevented from taking his own life. Isamillo was despondent because he couldn't return to the island he left two months ago and because he couldn't make his Spanish understood. His mother bought him a ticket to Puerto Rico two weeks ago. He missed the plane. (International) and the Phils' Ashburn and southpaw Harvey Haddix is still brewing.

Smith said "We've got four reliable starters in Robin Roberts (19-18), Curt Simmons (15-10), Jim Hearn (5-11) and Haddix (13-8). Bob Miller (3-6) and Jack Meyer (7-11) will be used both as starters and relievers." Jack Sanford (1-0), who looked so well in his lone start after his discharge from service last September also will start.

Mayo plans to promote at least three youngsters, all graduates from the Miami farm club. They are righthanders Dick Farrell (12-6) and Don Cardwell (15-7) and southpaw Seth Morehead (8-13). All three have impressed their manager with their stuff and pitching poise. Gene Snyder (7-4 at Miami) and Dick Bunker, an unheralded Notre Dame alumnus who prepped at Schneckady last year, also have looked good. Saul Rogovin, the veteran righthander, also may be kept for spot assignments. Gran Hammer, the former star shortstop who turned to pitching because of a left shoulder injury, has looked surprisingly good and may be kept on as a relief pitcher.

Missing Parents Return for Child

COLUMBUS (AP) — The parents of an 8-month-old baby walked into Juvenile Court late Thursday after they said they read a newspaper story of their baby's plight.

The baby, Ronald Paul, was taken to the juvenile center Wednesday from Children's Hospital where his parents brought him a month ago for treatment of malnutrition. Hospital officials said the baby was ready to be discharged.

Mrs. Lucille Burke, chief intake officer at Juvenile Court, said the Pauls told her they had moved. She added that court officers and juvenile authorities would question them further about the case.

Taylor, a 54-year-old Republican, in addition to being a radio commentator and writer on economic subjects, is prominent in banking and industrial circles. He is a trustee for the Manhattan Savings Bank, chairman of the Silicone Paper Co. of America.

He was a war correspondent in World War II for the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

How Long Will Americans Have To Pay Foreign Aid?

Editor's Note: A bitter congressional fight is shaping over President Eisenhower's request for $4.4 billion to continue the U. S. foreign aid program. Some of the pros and cons of the coming "great debate" are presented in this last of a series of articles.

By REILMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — How long will the United States have to go on helping other nations with its foreign aid programs?

A full 10 years has passed since the gigantic undertaking began. The total cost is now estimated at $6 billion dollars, and possibly more.

You can look at that figure in different ways.

You can say it averages out to less than 2 per cent of the gross national product (the value of all goods and services produced in the U.S.) over the 10-year period. Or, figuring another way, you can say it equals a charge of about $330 to every American man, woman and child.

What's the outlook? More of the same?

"Stop the whole thing right now," some people say.

"Impossible," others retort. "This is a long-haul contest with the Russians and it may go on for another 50 years."

"Make the setup more efficient," one view urges, "so that you get better results for less money."

"Encourage American private enterprise to take over as many of the economic development phases as possible," runs another argument.

There are many opinions today, pro and con, many thoughts as to what should be done now. Congress itself is divided over the next step. Never before has the foreign aid program been under such a hot white searchlight focused from so many directions. Here is the problem and some views on the outlook—

Foreign aid embraces two operations.

1. Under "military assistance," the U. S. furnishes weapons, machines and ammunition to nations allied against Russia.

2. "Economic aid" is designed to battle poverty and help other countries to prosper even though they may not be definitely committed in the cold war.

Official figures indicate that military aid takes by far the biggest chunk of the money Congress appropriates each year. And a long study prepared for the Senate concludes that these costs are not likely to go down in the immediate future. It says:

"The legislative branch should face up to the possibility that the military aid program, rather than costing less in future years, may cost more.

"It is entirely possible that, in terms of the total forces required—the nature and complexity of modern weapons may necessitate more men rather than less.

"For the years immediately ahead... the military aid program should be regarded as an integral part of the defense program of the United States. (It) has served materially to stabilize the free world and discourage aggression."

But what of economic aid? Point Four? The industrial plants built for other countries? The roads? The American technicians sent overseas to work at the expense of the American taxpayer? Here, thunderous controversy rages.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) a fierce critic of economic aid, says, "If we continue our policies, those countries will never try to help themselves. Why should they?"

But Sen. Case (R-N.J.) calls for consideration of a "comprehensive, systematic and adequate program of economic assistance for underdeveloped nations."

John B. Hollister, director of the international cooperation administration, which handles the foreign aid programs, said, "as long as the foreign policy of the United States stays unchanged, and as long as the world situation remains as it is, I don't see how you can greatly modify our program."

Sentiment in Congress today appears to be for a sharp cut in the funds requested for foreign aid. President Eisenhower has asked for $4,400,000,000.

Even that part allocated for military assistance may get a severe going-over. The economic parts are expected to generate a fierce battle.

And the consensus in Washington is that foreign aid, in one form or another, will be with us for a long time yet.

Phillies Have Good Mound Staff, Little Else, for '57

Editor's Note: Here is another in a series of articles giving an analysis of major league baseball for 1957.

By JOE REICHLER
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Ask manager Mayo Smith about his Philadelphia Phillies and he starts spouting about his pitching staff. It's obvious he has little else to gloat about. If it weren't for the pitching staff, the team would be a candidate for the cellar. Even with it the Phillies face a stern fight to retain their fifth place rating of 1956.

The club's biggest need last winter was a shortstop — and it still is. It is almost certain now that John Kennedy, who has done all his professional playing with the Kansas City Monarchs, will be the first Negro member of the Phillies. Although not yet on the roster, Kennedy is a cinch to be brought to Philadelphia and may even open the season at shortstop. Up to last week, the 26-year-old paced the entire club at bat with a .500 average and had played through nine games without an error.

Rebuffed at every turn in their efforts to land a proven big league shortstop, the Phillies were expected to finally close a deal with Brooklyn for Chico Fernandez, the Dodgers' second string shortstop. Brooklyn reportedly has been asking for a chunk of cash and two minor league players.

"Our pitching will have to hold us up," conceded Smith. "We don't figure to get many runs. At least, we haven't been scoring too many runs this spring. Our power is going to have to come from Rip Repulski, Willie Jones and Stan Lopata. We could use a good long ball left-handed hitter."

The Phillies tried to get Gus Bell, the left-handed slugger, from Cincinnati but shied away when the Reds demanded Richie Ashburn and Jones in return. Trade talk with St. Louis involved the Cardinals' Wally Moon and Alvin Dark and the Phils' Ashburn and southpaw Harvey Haddix is still brewing.

Smith said "We've got four reliable starters in Robin Roberts (19-18), Curt Simmons (15-10), Jim Hearn (5-11) and Haddix (13-8). Bob Miller (3-6) and Jack Meyer (7-11) will be used both as starters and relievers." Jack Sanford (1-0), who looked so well in his lone start after his discharge from service last September also will start.

Mayo plans to promote at least three youngsters, all graduates from the Miami farm club. They are right-handers Dick Farrell (12-6) and Don Cardwell (15-7) and southpaw Seth Morehead (8-13). All three have impressed their manager with their stuff and pitching poise. Gene Snyder (7-4 at Miami) and Dick Bunker, an unheralded Notre Dame alumnus who prepped at Schneckstad last year, also have looked good. Saul Rogovin, the veteran right-hander, also may be kept for spot assignments. Gran Hamner, the former star shortstop who turned to pitching because of a left shoulder injury, has looked surprisingly good and may be kept on as a relief pitcher.

Missing Parents Return for Child

COLUMBUS (AP) — The parents of an 8-month-old baby walked into Juvenile Court late Thursday after they said they read a newspaper story of their baby's plight.

The baby, Ronald Paul, was taken to the juvenile center Wednesday from Children's Hospital where his parents brought him a month ago for treatment of malnutrition. Hospital officials said the baby was ready to be discharged.

Mrs. Lucille Burke, chief intake officer at Juvenile Court, said the Pauls told her they had moved. She added that court officers and juvenile authorities would question them further about the case.

Radio Reporter To Be Ambassador

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Henry J. Taylor, writer and radio commentator, is scheduled to become U. S. ambassador to Switzerland. Taylor is to succeed Miss Frances Willis, U. S. ambassador in Bern since 1953, who is at present in the United States.

Taylor, a 54-year-old Republican, in addition to being a radio commentator and writer on economic subjects, is prominent in banking and industrial circles. He is a trustee of the Manhattan Savings Bank, chairman of the Silicone Paper Co. of America.

He was a war correspondent in World War II for the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

How Long Will Americans Have To Pay Foreign Aid?

Editor's Note: A bitter congressional fight is shaping over President Eisenhower's request for $4.4 billion to continue the U. S. foreign aid program. Some of the pros and cons of the coming "great debate" are presented in this last of a series of articles.

By RELMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — How long will the United States have to go on helping other nations with its foreign aid programs?

A full 10 years has passed since the gigantic undertaking began. The total cost is now estimated at $6 billion dollars, and possibly more.

You can look at that figure in different ways.

You can say it averages out to less than 2 per cent of the gross national product (the value of all goods and services produced in the U. S.) over the 10-year period. Or, figuring another way, you can say it equals a charge of about $330 to every American man, woman and child.

What's the outlook? More of the same?

"Stop the whole thing right now," some people say.

"Impossible," others retort. "This is a long-haul contest with the Russians and it may go on for another 50 years."

"Make the setup more efficient," one view urges, "so that you get better results for less money."

"Encourage American private enterprise to take over as many of the economic development phases as possible," runs another argument.

There are many opinions today, pro and con, many thoughts as to what should be done now. Congress itself is divided over the next step. Never before has the foreign aid program been under such a hot white searchlight focused from so many directions. Here is the problem and some views on the outlook—

Foreign aid embraces two operations.

1. Under "military assistance," the U. S. furnishes weapons, machines and ammunition to nations allied against Russia.

2. "Economic aid" is designed to battle poverty and help other countries to prosper even though they may not be definitely committed in the cold war.

Official figures indicate that military aid takes by far the biggest chunk of the money Congress appropriates each year. And a long study prepared for the Senate concludes that these costs are not likely to go down in the immediate future. It says:

"The legislative branch should face up to the possibility that the military aid program, rather than costing less in future years, may cost more."

"It is entirely possible that, in terms of the total forces required—the nature and complexity of modern weapons may necessitate more men rather than less."

"For the years immediately ahead...the military aid program should be regarded as an integral part of the defense program of the United States. (It) has served materially to stabilize the free world and discourage aggression."

But what of economic aid? Point Four? The industrial plants built for other countries? The roads? The American technicians sent overseas to work at the expense of the American taxpayer? Here, thunderous controversy rages.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) a fierce critic of economic aid, says, "If we continue our policies, those countries will never try to help themselves. Why should they?"

But Sen. Case (R-N.J.) calls for consideration of a "comprehensive, systematic and adequate program of economic assistance for underdeveloped nations."

John B. Hollister, director of the international cooperation administration, which handles the foreign aid programs, said, "as long as the foreign policy of the United States stays unchanged, and as long as the world situation remains as it is, I don't see how you can greatly modify our program."

Sentiment in Congress today appears to be for a sharp cut in the funds requested for foreign aid. President Eisenhower has asked for $4,400,000,000.

Even that part allocated for military assistance may get a severe going-over. The economic parts are expected to generate a fierce battle.

Sound Seen Making Stars Sound again

BROOKLYN (AP) — Carl Erskine and Karl Spooner, worried and perplexed, have found out sound can make them sound again.

The two sore-armed Brooklyn Dodger pitchers learned in a hospital report Thursday that both have the same trouble — calcium deposits.

Both are taking the same treatment, with ultrasonic sound waves attacking the calcium to break up the deposits.

"It's sure a relief to know at last what's wrong," said Erskine, the 30-year-old righthander who twice has hurled no-hitters in his nine years with the Dodgers.

The "nice-guy" veteran, who set a World Series record by striking out 14 to beat the New York Yankees 3-2 in the third game of the 1953 classic, said the two-day hospital tests uncovered calcium "high in the back of my shoulder, not where it hurts, but just above it. They're quite sure the pain and the calcium are related. There are three bits which weren't visible before."

Erskine, with a 113-69 won-lost record in the majors after a 13-11 mark last season, said that "while these new ultrasonic treatments are no overnight cure, I'll be pitching again before you know it."

Spooner's case is almost identical. The 25-year-old lefthander, who broke into the majors with back-to-back shutouts and a record for strikeouts (27) in two successive games late in 1953, but has not been nearly as impressive since, said he has calcium deposits "in my left shoulder socket. I'm hoping that with a full set of treatments I'll be OK again."

Canadiens, Bruins To Play for Cup

MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens, no strangers to Stanley Cup finals, and Boston's Bruins, who have reached the last round only three times in the last 11 years, will meet for the National Hockey League's coveted trophy won by the Canadian sextet last year.

Both gained the championship round Thursday night by identical 4-3 scores and the same 4-1 margin in games over their semifinal opponents. They will open the Saturday night.

The Canadiens wrapped up their series against the New York Rangers and the Bruins turned back the Detroit Red Wings.

Robin Roberts Sets Sights on 20 Victories

Phillie Mound Star Showing Signs of Regaining Old Form

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Robin Roberts, trim, fit and doing things with a curve, looks ready to get back into that old 20-victory rut again. No more pid-dlin' 19-victory seasons for Robin.

The big, control-conscious right-hander, a basic reason for the Philadelphia Phillies being in or near the National League's first division for seven seasons, appears at ease again on the mound.

The 30-year-old veteran, troubled by a back ailment last year, gave the New York Yankees a look at the best pitching they've seen this spring Thursday. It wasn't until after Robin left for a pinch-hitter that the world champions managed to gain a 1-0 victory.

For eight innings, Roberts permitted but one hit—a bunt single by Hank Bauer that opened the fourth inning. The first nine Yankees went down in order. Robin retired 18 in a row with the ball never leaving the infield. He faced only 26 batters, struck out three, walked none.

The only other Yank to reach base was Jerry Coleman, safe on Willie Jones' error in the eighth. In the ninth, Yankee rookie Woody Held tripped off rookie right-hander Dick Farrell and Gil McDougald followed with a sacrifice fly that brought home the run and lifted the Yanks over .500 despite only two hits.

McDougald junked the Phils' bid in the ninth, stabbing a "sure" RBI hit to center by Ted Kazanski that got reliever Pobby Shantz out of the inning. Shantz had relieved Whitey Ford, who gave five hits, walked three but struck out six in seven innings—is first work since March 23 because of a tender arm. Ford has allowed only one run in 21 innings for an .043 ERA.

Elsewhere, Brooklyn battered Milwaukee 14-8; Chicago's White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox 6-5 in 11 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Detroit 5-4; Pittsburgh's singles beat Kansas City 4-3; Cincinnati rallied to defeat Washington 5-4 in 10; the New York Giants halted Cleveland's winning streak at six games 9-6, and Baltimore walloped Chicago's Cubs 18-5.

The Dodgers were out-hit by the Braves 16-14, but the Brooks collected 12 extra base hits—five of them home runs and two of those by Duke Snider. Milwaukee again had fun with Johnny Podres, scoring three runs in his five frames, and then tagged rookie Rene Valdes for the rest, three on Hank Aaron's ninth home run. Gene Conley started for the Braves.

Reliever Ellis Kinder worked the White Sox out of a ninth-inning hole when Boston loaded the bases with none out. Then Bubba Phillips tripled and rookie Earl Battey brought him home with a sacrifice fly.

Two runs in the seventh won for the Cardinals, making the most of Pete Wojey's wildness while Hoyt Wilhelm was settling a Tiger rally. Don Hoak's single won for the Redlegs, held hitless for six innings by Bob Chakales. Wally Post's two-run homer gave Cincy a tie in the ninth.

Bob Lemon and Don Mossi were battered for 13 hits by the Giants, with Vic Wertz homering twice for the Indians. Eight singles in the first two frames gave the Pirates all their runs off Virgil Trucks. The Orioles banged 22 hits in their romp past the Cubs.

Explorer Balboa never saw Balboa Hill in Panama. He crossed the Isthmus 120 miles east of this spot.

Jackie Burke Scoffs at Jinx Against Repeats in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jackie Burke Jr. is a steel-eyed Texan who laughs at the jinx that Masters champions never repeat.

"I don't let that stuff bother me," the boyish-looking 34-year-old Houston professional said after shooting the only sub-par round—a 71—of the '01 stars who took a crack at the Augusta National course Thursday.

The score was the highest ever to lead the Masters on opening day.

Today Burke tries to defend his slender lead — one stroke over eight others and only three ahead of another 13—but it's sure these challengers never faced a cooler calculator.

"I hear the Masters champion never repeats," Jackie said.

Sound Seen Making Stars Sound again

BROOKLYN (AP) — Carl Erskine and Karl Spooner, worried and perplexed, have found out sound can make them sound again.

The two sore-armed Brooklyn Dodger pitchers learned in a hospital report Thursday that both have the same trouble — calcium deposits.

Both are taking the same treatment, with ultrasonic sound waves attacking the calcium to break up the deposits.

"It's sure a relief to know at last what's wrong," said Erskine, the 30-year-old righthander who twice has hurled no-hitters in his nine years with the Dodgers.

The "nice-guy" veteran, who set a World Series record by striking out 14 to beat the New York Yankees 3-2 in the third game of the 1953 classic, said the two-day hospital tests uncovered calcium "high in the back of my shoulder, not where it hurts, but just above it. They're quite sure the pain and the calcium are related. There are three bits which weren't visible before."

Erskine, with a 113-69 win-loss record in the majors after a 13-11 mark last season, said that "while these new ultrasonic treatments are no overnight cure, I'll be pitching again before you know it."

Spooner's case is almost identical. The 25-year-old left-hander, who broke into the majors with back-to-back shutouts and a record for strikeouts (27) in two successive games late in 1952, but has not been nearly as impressive since, said he has calcium deposits "in my left shoulder socket. I'm hoping that with a full set of treatments I'll be OK again."

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

Canadiens, Bruins To Play for Cup

MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens, no strangers to Stanley Cup finals, and Boston's Bruins, who have reached the last round only three times in the last 11 years, will meet for the National Hockey League's coveted trophy won by the Canadian sextet last year.

Both gained the championship round Thursday night by identical 4-3 scores and the same 4-1 margin in games over their semifinal opponents. They will open the Saturday night.

The Canadiens wrapped up their series against the New York Rangers and the Bruins turned back the Detroit Red Wings.

Robin Roberts Sets Sights on 20 Victories

Phillie Mound Star Showing Signs of Regaining Old Form

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Robin Roberts, trim, fit and doing things with a curve, looks ready to get back into that old 20-victory rut again. No more pidlin' 19-victory seasons for Robin.

The big, control-conscious right-hander, a basic reason for the Philadelphia Phillies being in or near the National League's first division for seven seasons, appears at ease again on the mound.

The 30-year-old veteran, troubled by a back ailment last year, gave the New York Yankees a look at the best pitching they've seen this spring Thursday. It wasn't until after Robin left for a pinch-hitter that the world champions managed to gain a 1-0 victory.

For eight innings, Roberts permitted but one hit—a bunt single by Hank Bauer that opened the fourth inning. The first nine Yankees went down in order. Robin retired 18 in a row with the ball never leaving the infield. He faced only 26 batters, struck out three, walked none.

The only other Yank to reach base was Jerry Coleman, safe on Willie Jones' error in the eighth.

In the ninth, Yankee rookie Woody Held tripped off rookie right-hander Dick Farrell and Gil McDougald followed with a sacrifice fly that brought home the run and lifted the Yanks over .500 despite only two hits.

McDougald junked the Phils' bid in the ninth, stabbing a "sure" RBI hit to center by Ted Kazanski that got reliever Pobby Shantz out of the inning. Shantz had relieved Whitey Ford, who gave five hits, walked three but struck out six in seven innings—is first work since March 23 because of a tender arm. Ford has allowed only one run in 21 innings for an 0.43 ERA.

Elsewhere, Brooklyn battered Milwaukee 14-8; Chicago's White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox 6-5 in 11 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Detroit 5-4; Pittsburgh's singles beat Kansas City 4-3; Cincinnati rallied to defeat Washington 5-4 in 10; the New York Giants halted Cleveland's winning streak at six games 9-6, and Baltimore walloped Chicago's Cubs 18-5.

The Dodgers were out-hit by the Braves 16-14, but the Brooks collected 12 extra base hits—five of them home runs and two of those by Duke Snider. Milwaukee again had fun with Johnny Podres, scoring three runs in his five frames, and then tagged rookie Rene Valdes for the rest, three on Hank Aaron's ninth home run. Gene Conley staffed for the Braves.

Reliever Ellis Kinder worked the White Sox out of a ninth-inning hole when Boston loaded the bases with none out. Then Bubba Phillips tripled and rookie Earl Battey brought him home with a sacrifice fly.

Two runs in the seventh won for the Cardinals, making the most of Pete Wojcik's wildness while Hoyt Wilhelm was settling a Tiger rally. Don Hoak's single won for the Redlegs, held hitless for six innings by Bob Chakales. Wally Pott's two-run homer gave Cincy a tie in the ninth.

Bob Lemon and Don Mossi were battered for 13 hits by the Giants, with Vic Wertz homering twice for the Indians. Eight singles in the first two frames gave the Pirates all their runs off Virgil Trucks. The Orioles banged 22 hits in their romp past the Cubs.

Explorer Balboa never saw Balboa Hill in Panama. He crossed the Isthmus 120 miles east of this spot.

Jackie Burke Scoffs at Jinx Against Repeats in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Jackie Burke Jr. is a steel-eyed Texan who laughs at the jinx that Masters champions never repeat.

"I don't let that stuff bother me," the boyish-looking 34-year-old Houston professional said after shooting the only sub-par round—a 71—of the 101 stars who took a crack at the Augusta National course Thursday.

The score was the highest ever to lead the Masters on opening day.

Today Burke tries to defend his slender lead—one stroke over five players, two strokes over eight others and only three ahead of another 13—but it's sure these challengers never faced a cooler calculator.

"I hear the Masters champion never repeats," Jackie said.

"Certainly, I know that others were favored, such as Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecoff. They should be on their records."

"But never once did I think about these things. Not once did I feel any pressure of being a champion trying to win again. I found long ago that there's enough to think about trying to whip a golf course."

"So there's just one thing in my mind. I go out there to beat the course, to play the best possible golf I can. Then if that isn't good enough, it's just too bad."

If Jackie were the type to get concerned, Middlecoff, the National Open champion, and Hogan, one of the great golfers of our era, wouldn't be on his "worry" list. Middlecoff, missing six putts of under three feet, soared to a 79. Hogan shot a 76.

Closest on Jackie's heels were two menacing young Australians, British Open champion Peter Thomson and Bruce Crampton; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., each seeing his fourth Masters title; and the old workhorse of the pro tour, Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., former champion of the Professional Golfers Assn. and the year's leading money winner. All had par 72s.

Tied at 73 were Britain's Henry Cotton, Canada's Al Balding, Ed Furgol, Arnold Palmer, Jerry Barber, Skeet Riege and Bud Ward—and the reigning national amateur champion, Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., was par for 17 holes before stopping because of darkness and needed only a par 4 on the final hole to fall into the 72 group. A birdie would give him a tie with Burke for the first-round lead.

Fullmer Slated For Lush Payday

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Fullmer, the bull-necked middleweight boxing champion, is looking ahead to his biggest payday. He stands to collect about $80,000 in his 30-30 percentage cut with Sugar Ray Robinson of the gate and TV proceeds for defense of his crown May 1 at Chicago Stadium.

When Fullmer defeated Robinson for the title last Jan. 2, in New York, he got only $20,915 while Sugar Ray pocketed $138,190.

Fullmer, confident he can beat Robinson again, will train in the ultra-plush surroundings of Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Robinson will continue his training at Greenwood Lake, N. Y.

"We Sell The Best and Junk The Rest"

Minor League 'Banker' To Be Cautious

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Baseball's minor leagues will get a long hard look from Bill DeWitt before the newly appointed baseball coordinator starts dipping into his $500,000 treasury for grants to hard-pressed owners.

"Right now we're trying to assemble information," said DeWitt at Al Lang Field. "We're looking into the situation in various cities and studying population trends. Our work is supposed to supplement the administrative job of George Trautman and the national association."

"So far, we haven't paid out a cent to anybody. We're going slow, trying not to step on anybody's toes."

"We have made it a policy to make no grants to any club until after the opening of the 1957 season."

"One fellow approached us with a request for $1,500 to pay some back debts. Another wanted us to pick up the tab for some withholding taxes two years old."

"It is our purpose to try to stabilize the minor leagues in cooperation with Trautman and to help his office if we can." The $500,000 in DeWitt's care was set up by the major leagues with each of the 16 clubs assessed $31,250.

Westinghouse Program Set

Betty Furness will visit two Columbus housewives in a commercial version of "Person to Person" Monday—when the Westinghouse "Studio One" Sand Test commercial will be televised live from their respective homes to a nationwide audience of 22 million viewers. It will be seen on WBNS-TV at 10 p. m.

This was announced today by Hubert S. Moore of Moore's Dream House local Westinghouse dealer. The two homemakers are Mrs. Fred R. Asay and her neighbor, Mrs. Michael E. Spangler. They had argued over the credibility of the Sand Test, which demonstrates the washing, rinsing and self-cleaning actions of the Westinghouse Laundromat.

"This will be one of the few times—if not the very first time—a television commercial has been done remote and live from a private home and we are pleased that it will originate here in Central Ohio," Moore said.

Westinghouse Program Set

Betty Furness will visit two Columbus housewives in a commercial version of "Person to Person" Monday—when the Westinghouse "Studio One" Sand Test commercial will be televised live from their respective homes to a nationwide audience of 22 million viewers. It will be seen on WBNS-TV at 10 p. m.

This was announced today by Hubert S. Moore of Moore's Dream House local Westinghouse dealer. The two homemakers are Mrs. Fred R. Asay and her neighbor, Mrs. Michael E. Spangler. They had argued over the credibility of the Sand Test, which demonstrates the washing, rinsing and self-cleaning actions of the Westinghouse Laundromat.

"This will be one of the few times—if not the very first time—a television commercial has been done remote and live from a private home and we are pleased that it will originate here in Central Ohio," Moore said.

60 4-H Girls Set for Tag Day

Money To Help Fight Cancer

Three score of girls, all members of six 4-H clubs, will be on the streets of Washington C. H. Saturday from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. doing their part in the American Cancer Society's war against the disease that will claim an estimated 250,000 American lives this year.

In return for a contribution, they will pin a little "sword of hope" on lapel of the contributors — evidence that they, too, are in the fight against cancer.

This tag day, as the part the 4-H girls play in the crusade of the Fayette County unit of the society, is designed to help raise money for research, education and service. The Fayette County's unit's goal this year is $5,000.

The next day is Cancer Sunday, the day when more than 300 volunteers are to start a house-to-house canvass that is to cover the county. The crusade has two purposes: (1) raise money for the three-pled war on the disease and (2) give the people information that will help them detect cancer in time for effective treatment and possible cure.

WITH THE 4-H GIRLS on tag day will be the club advisors. The participating clubs are:

State Liquor Aide Confesses Theft

COLUMBUS (AP)—A 69-year-old manager of a state liquor store here is under bond today after admitting he stole $9,000 during the last several years to cover "gambling losses." State Auditor James A. Rhodes said Stanley Strader admitted the thefts in a signed affidavit Thursday.

Strader, a Liquor Department employee for 23 years, said he juggled the store's books to conceal the shortages. He told Rhodes he began "taking money from the receipts of my store" to cover heavy losses after he started gambling "about 12 years ago."

Good Hope High School's Mad Anthony cagers were guests of honor at the annual athletic banquet sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization.

Seated at the tables, bright with spring flowers, were members of the varsity, reserve and junior basketball squads, their managers, and their cheerleaders for the dinner of steaks, provided by the PTO, and the side dishes that came from the covered baskets that had been brought from many homes.

The players, managers and cheerleaders were surrounded by admiring relatives, friends and fellow students as the spotlight was turned on them for the evening's program. The invocation was by Mrs. Vena Wais.

Coach Stahl also stressed the necessity of good grades to participate in sports.

With Coach Stahl was one of the year's stars of the Buck cage team—Ken Sidel. Sidel talked more directly of basketball in terms of the Mad Anthons understood better than anyone else. He emphasized the importance of training to keep physically fit.

MEMBERS of the varsity squad, who were called up in turn to receive the school's expressions of appreciation and the applause of the crowd were Norman Kimball, Sonny Current, Stanley Smith, Jay Bonecutter, Loy Overly, Jimmy Butcher and Wilbur VanDyke.

Those on the reserve squad were Bob Jenkins, Roger Jenkins, Roger Osborne, Gary Brown, Donald Strouth, Jerry Hoppes, George Garinger, Bobby Jenkins, Charles Melton and Steve Thompson.

The cheerleaders were Barbara Kneisley, Jackie Hoppes, Edna Mae Hoppes and Nancy McFadden for the varsity and reserves and Peggy Garrison, Margie Best, Karen Thompson and Trisha Kellenberger for the juniors.

For entertainment, George Garinger played a piano solo and the "Three Teens" sang "Muskrat Ramble" and "Happiness Street." Mrs. Herbert Hoppes played the accompaniment. The "Three Teens" Total financial loss on the Olympic Games in Australia in 1956 was $1,350,000.

Kroger Offering 101 Scholarships

A total of 101 college scholarships will be offered to high school graduates under the Kroger Scholarship Program for 1957, according to Byron P. Redman, Sr., vice president of the retail food firm's Columbus Division, which operates stores in this area.

Value of the one-year awards will also be increased this year to $250 each. They will be available next fall at land-grant colleges in 19 midwestern and southern states in which Kroger operates, as well as California and Florida where the company's produce procurement offices are located.

The scholarships are offered to students planning to major in agriculture and home economics.

Application forms can be obtained directly from the land-grant college in the student's state. Selection of winners will be made by the school's scholarship committee, and application should be made directly to the dean of the college of agriculture.

Awards are made on the basis of scholastic achievements in high school as well as leadership qualities demonstrated in school, church or youth organizations. Need for financial aid may also be considered.

Total financial loss on the Olympic Games in Australia in 1956 was $1,350,000.

THE COMFORT OF SELF-DELUSION

★ The best advice is often more than we can bear. It takes courage to face the impact of truth, and firm resolution to form new habits to fit the facts.

Your doctor is sometimes confronted with the stern necessity of advising restrictions in your usual routine. Your favorite dessert or that comforting cigar may be denied you. There is a strong temptation to treat such advice lightly, to feel you know your needs better than your doctor.

Such self-delusion may be comforting, but it defeats the very ends you seek. Carefully follow your doctor's advice.
